

The Wrong Book

A Case for New York Noir

by Jesse Reichler

v2.05 - 6/23/25

SUMMARY

The Wrong Book is a 3-day case set in 1948 New York City, around the Times Square neighborhood. Jack Deverell is a private investigator hired to recover a valuable book stolen under mysterious circumstances.

- Author: Jesse Reichler <jessereichler@gmail.com>
- Status: playable
- Additional credits: Editing by Debbie Levy
- Web: <https://boardgamegeek.com/thread/3276594/play-the-wrong-book-case-now>
- Game system: nyNoir
- Campaign: High & Low (part 6)
- Case date: 3/1/1948
- Difficulty: 4 out of 5
- Playtime: 4 hours
- Cautions: Occasional adult language
- Compiled: Monday, June 23, 2025 at 02:14 AM / Casebook v4.67 (6/15/25)
- Typesetting: 10pt a4 onside (xelatex)
- Stats: 219 Leads / 7 Docs / 33 Markers / 9 Images / 3 Days / 28.9k Words (135 avg.) / 183.3 KB

Table of Contents

FRONT	1	2-0812	57
Cover Page	1	2-2160	58
Table of Contents	2	2-2615	59
Instructions	5	2-2956	60
Log sheets	6	2-3096	61
Day 1	12	2-3201	62
Introduction	12	2-3383	63
Day 1 End-of-shift Briefing	16	2-3482	64
		2-3501	65
Day 2	18	2-4231	66
Day 2 Morning	18	2-4289	68
Day 2 End-of-shift Briefing	21	2-4314	69
		2-4691	71
Day 3	23	2-4932	72
Day 3 Morning	23	2-5390	74
Day 3 End-of-shift Briefing	26	2-5562	75
		2-5991	76
LEADS	27	2-6088	77
1	28	2-6610	78
1-0108	29	2-7544	79
1-0396	30	2-7768	80
1-1111	31	2-8111	81
1-1996	33	2-8381	82
1-2791	34	2-8392	83
1-3563	35	2-8549	84
1-4219	36	2-9509	85
1-4441	37	3	86
1-4670	38	3-0038	87
1-4797	39	3-0407	88
1-4942	40	3-0506	89
1-4981	41	3-1133	90
1-5160	42	3-1627	91
1-5280	43	3-2915	92
1-5654	44	3-4440	93
1-6801	45	3-4452	94
1-7000	46	3-5027	95
1-7398	47	3-5167	96
1-8423	48	3-5394	97
1-8563	49	3-5433	98
1-8779	50	3-5830	99
1-8786	51	3-6861	100
1-8989	52	3-7042	101
1-9561	53	3-8027	102
1-9825	54	3-9569	103
2	55	4	104
2-0387	56

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

4-1463	105	6-2864	154
4-1607	106	6-2867	155
4-1852	107	6-3076	156
4-1915	108	6-3528	157
4-2219	109	6-4116	158
4-2483	110	6-4294	159
4-2607	111	6-4818	160
4-2821	112	6-5023	161
4-3737	113	6-5191	162
4-4158	114	6-5241	164
4-4892	115	6-5810	165
4-5063	116	6-6857	166
4-5413	117	6-7209	167
4-5591	118	6-7401	169
4-5594	119	6-7764	170
4-5627	120	6-7827	171
4-6134	121	6-8051	172
4-6329	122	6-9195	173
4-6599	123	6-9443	174
4-7384	124	6-9849	175
4-7978	125	7	176
4-9164	126	7-1427	177
5	127	7-1778	178
5-0470	128	7-2889	179
5-0693	129	7-4030	180
5-1432	130	7-4777	181
5-1752	131	7-4818	182
5-2297	132	7-6051	183
5-2683	133	7-6204	184
5-3149	134	7-6591	185
5-3699	135	7-7507	186
5-4089	136	7-7572	187
5-4321	137	7-9323	188
5-4329	138	7-9386	189
5-6094	139	8	190
5-6096	140	8-0109	191
5-6246	141	8-0681	192
5-6376	142	8-1410	193
5-6638	143	8-1631	194
5-6719	144	8-2147	195
5-8382	146	8-3872	196
5-9516	147	8-4237	197
6	148	8-4472	198
6-0291	149	8-5827	199
6-1692	150	8-6264	201
6-1900	151	8-6591	202
6-2087	152	8-8408	203
6-2712	153	8-8837	204

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

8-9427	205
8-9604	206
8-9798	207

DOCUMENTS 208

Document 1	209
Document 2	210
Document 3	211
Document 4	212
Document 5	213
Document 6	214
Document 7	215

END 216

Conclusion	217
Questions	219
Epilogue	223
Final Scoring	227
Legacy Campaign Updates	228
Postscript: Behind the Scenes	229
Full Walkthrough	231

HINTS 232

Hint for Document 4	233
Hint for Document 5	234
Hint for Document 6	235
Hint for Marker A1	236
Hint for Marker B1	237
Hint for Marker C1	238
Hint for Marker D1	239
Hint for Marker D2	240
Hint for Marker E1	241
Hint for Marker F1	242
Hint for Marker G1	243
Hint for Marker H1	244
Hint for Marker J1	245
Hint for Marker K1	246
Hint for Marker L1	247
Hint for Marker M1	248
Hint for Marker N1	249
Hint for Marker O1	250
Hint for Marker P1	251
Hint for Marker X1	252
Hint for Marker Y1	253
Hint for Marker Z1	254
Help I'm Lost	255

Instructions

To play this case you will need the v3 base document set from New York Noir (<https://www.nynoir.org/downloads>):

- Quick Start Rules (start with this!)
- White, Yellow, and Reverse Directories
- Map Atlas w/ interleaved Neighborhood Guide
- Rulebook, Research Guide, and Navigation Guide
- A Case Tracking Sheet, Daily Log Sheets (one for each day), and a Campaign Log Sheet. Print these out; the rest can be used digitally (copies may be included in this casebook).

Looking up Leads

- Use the table of contents at the start of this casebook to look up leads.
- Remember that looking up a lead that has no entry does not cause time to pass, neither does re-reading a previously visited lead.

Tracking Time

This case unfolds over multiple days:

- At the start of each day use a new Daily Log Sheet and record the day #, date, and day of week.
- On the top row record the starting time for the day.
- Keep track of every lead you visit and the time of each visit.

Events

At the start of each day you will schedule an evening event that triggers at a specific time:

- Record this in the Scheduled Events section at the bottom of the current day's Daily Log Sheet.
- When you reach or pass this time, finish any in-progress action and then go to the event lead.
- Typically, this evening event will let you know whether to end your current day immediately, or whether you must enter overtime in order to find certain markers first.
- Whatever the case, you will find instructions on what to do in the evening event.

Alternative Flextime Mode

Flextime mode is an optional way to play for those who dislike having to track the passage of time:

- Continue to record each lead you visit but ignore all time tracking instructions during the game and do not bother track your current time.
- If you encounter text asking you what time of day it is, simply pick a time of your choice between the day's start time and evening event time.
- When you are ready to end your day, just read the evening event lead.
- Flextime mode reduces bookkeeping, but also tension; it will not otherwise reduce the richness of your experience.

Hints

There is a hint section at the back of this casebook:

- Consult a hint if you are having trouble finding a required marker that must be found before the end of the day.
- Consult a hint if you encounter difficulty working with fingerprints, criminal histories, or codes and ciphers.

Investigative Resource Points

You will occasionally receive Investigative Resource Points (IRP).

- IRP can be tracked at the bottom center of your Case Tracking Sheet.
- IRP accumulate throughout the case, and you will have multiple opportunities to spend them.
- At the end of your case any unspent IRP will positively impact your score and reputation.

Wrapping-up

After the last day of your case ends, you will proceed to a conclusion section, but you will have a final opportunity to resume searching for leads without any time limit.

TIPS

- Unless otherwise specified, if you visit a lead that requires a marker that you don't currently have, you can come back when you do.
- Most people tend to work in the same neighborhood where they live.
- Most people stick to the neighborhood where they live or work.

Day 1

Introduction

11 AM - Monday, March 1st, 1948

I got into the office early this morning and opened the place up myself. These days it's almost easier to sleep in my chair than in my bed. I'm just dozing off when I hear a knock at the door.

There's just enough of a pause to give me time to push my hat back and pretend I'm awake. In walks Jewel with a stack of papers in her hand, trailed by a lady I don't recognize. She looks to be in her early 40s. She's well put together, with matching black hat and handbag, and shiny black heels. Looks like she's from money – my favorite kind of client.

"This is Mrs. Browning," says Jewel. "She wants to hire you to find something or other."

I stand up and stick out my hand. "Nice to meet you, Mrs. Browning," I say, and she puts her white-gloved hand in mine.

"I'll take it from here," I say to Jewel, who's already headed for the door.

"If she's looking for a bird, don't take the job," she says over her shoulder.

"You're not, are you?" I say to Mrs. Browning.

"Not what?" she asks.

"Looking for a lost bird."

"Who are you, Sam Spade?"

A big grin forms on my face, and I sit back down in my chair. She may be from money, but I like her already. "No", she says, "I'm looking for a book".

She sits down in the chair opposite my desk and digs into her handbag for a cigarette. I know how this goes, so I just wait for her to get settled and start talking.

"It's a very rare and valuable book, Mr. Deverell. One that's been in my family for generations. It's been stolen, and I want you to get it back for me."

"Sounds like a job for the police," I say.

She rolls her eyes and leans forward to tap her cigarette in my ashtray. "I just came from the police – they're the ones who sent me to you."

"I see." I loosen my tie and pull out the ledger from my desk drawer. "Well, my rate is 50 dollars a day plus expenses – and that's whether I recover the book or not." What I don't say is that my normal rate's 40 dollars a day; the extra 10 is my matching-hat-and-handbag rate. "If that suits you, we can get started right away."

"That will be just fine," she says.

"OK, start from the beginning, tell me about this book and what you think happened to it."

"Very well," she says, rummaging into her handbag. "This is a photo of the book." She hands me a photo of an ornate book, indicating that I can keep it.

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

“It’s an Octavo King James Bible. It was purchased by my great-great-great-grandfather in 1700.” She hesitates for a moment, like she’s choosing her words carefully. “You must understand, Mr. Deverell, that I come from a deeply religious family – this book has been smuggled across oceans and deserts, and passed down from generation to generation, from mother to daughter to daughter. And now it’s been stolen. I must have it back. It is of incalculable sentimental value.”

“I guess it’s got some non-sentimental value, as well.”

She wrinkles her mouth. “It is worth a small fortune. Though that is of little concern to me.”

She takes a long drag of her cigarette and continues.

“I came down from Boston the day before yesterday, to have it appraised – for insurance purposes, you understand. I had appointments yesterday with two dealers that had come highly recommended. The first, a fellow named Wyckoff. An older gentleman, perhaps 60 years old, tall, white hair, and walks with a limp. He arrived at my hotel room around 8am. He studied the book for about 30 minutes, then asked to take the book home with him overnight so he could study it further. I told him that was out of the question.

The second dealer was a Mr. Gorski, who came by around 10am. He was a tiny man, Polish maybe, in his 40s or 50s, with a round balding head and wire-rimmed glasses. He spent a good hour going over the book with a magnifying glass, and said he would get back to me with his assessment. He also requested that he be permitted to take the book back to his apartment to study it. I again said no. That was yesterday. This morning I went out for breakfast – I couldn’t have been gone for more than an hour – and when I returned to the room, the book was gone.”

“So it was taken from your hotel room this morning. You’re quite sure of that?”

“Quite.”

“And you’ve no doubt talked to the hotel staff already? Could a maid have walked off with it?”

She taps her cigarette into the ashtray. “I’ve talked to the hotel staff. They claim that the maid was nowhere near the room while I was out.”

“Nothing else disturbed?” I ask. “Nothing else taken?”

“Some jewelry in a nightstand drawer was also taken – ruby earrings and a matching ruby and silver necklace and bracelet, but they are of no importance to me. There was cash and traveler’s checks on the entryway table that were untouched.”

“And where is it you’re staying?” I ask.

“The Hotel Cumberland in Times Square. Room 713.”

“I guess that rules out someone coming in through the window. Any sign of someone messing with the lock to your door?”

“I’m sure I have no idea.”

“OK, Mrs. Browning, I think that gives me enough to get started.” I stand up and show her to the door. “I can reach you at the Cumberland?”

“Yes, you can call directly up to room 713 by dialing 3-8027.”

Then, with the first sign of real concern I’ve seen from her, she says “Until the book is recovered I dare not return home. Oh, if you do find the book, Mr. Deverell, please be very careful with it – it’s several hundred years old and in very fragile shape – the less you handle it the better.”

 Circle Document 1 in your case log. You have gained access to Document 1 (Photo of Mrs. Browning's Book), which can be found at the back of this case book on page 209.

 Record the following mandatory event in your schedule:

- When: Today, day #1 (Monday, March 1st, 1948).
- Time: 8pm
- Where: 6-9849 \(p.175\)
- Mandatory: YES.

When you reach this time (or finish an action that causes you to surpass it) you are required to go to the specified lead above, which will instruct you on how to conclude your day.

 You are now ready to start your day. On a blank case log sheet record that it is Day 1 (Mon, Mar 1st) and that the current time is 11am. Then close this case book and begin searching for leads in the directories. Don't forget to keep an eye on your schedule for the 8pm event above that will trigger and lead to the conclusion of your work day.

 Note: There are specific hints available for each of the the day's required items (see table of contents). However, if you need guidance on where to focus your efforts on any given day, you can drop by your old police precinct in the Financial District for some advice: 8-1410 \(p.193\). If you arrive between noon and 2pm you can catch the chief on his lunch break and get the advice without penalty.

STOP!

Stop reading this case book now, and begin searching for leads in the directories.

Do not turn the page. You should have set an event which will trigger at the end of day 1, which will instruct you on what to do when the day ends.

Day 1 End-of-shift Briefing

Jewel and I meet in the office to review developments in the case after the first day.

 If you finished the day before entering overtime, you have enough spare time to see a movie; go to 8-0681 on p.192, and then return here.

STOP!

Turn the page when you are ready to begin day 2.

NOTE: If you've been playing for a couple of hours, now might be a good time to take a break before continuing...

Day 2

Day 2 Morning

10 AM - Tuesday, March 2nd, 1948

🔊 ... You are listening to WABC radio in New York City. These are your top headlines. In international news, the Congressional Aviation Policy Board has increased its demand for Air Force funding by several billion dollars to avert a future world war..

...In local news, traffic snarls continue to plague the Garment District this morning, despite the new staggered traffic policy. Police commander Arthur Wallander called representatives to work out further concessions..

...At midnight tonight the Museum of Natural History will open its doors to the New York elite for an early sneak peak at the upcoming exhibition of controversial religious books. True to its name, the exhibition has stirred up a great deal of controversy, with local church elders protesting what they have called sacrilegious works of dubious authenticity. And now a word from our sponsor...

...Suffering from indigestion? Looking for a midday pick-me-up? Try Muller's Antacid, bottled locally, and good for your eyes...

I get into my office a little past 9am on Tuesday morning, and I find Jewel glaring at a large brown-paper-wrapped parcel sitting in the center of her desk, about the size of a typewriter.

“What’s that?” I ask.

“Somebody dropped it off in front of the door a few minutes after I got in and skedaddled. Doesn’t have a return address.”

We both stare at it for a long minute. “I don’t suppose you have a secret admirer?” I ask.

“Maybe your new girlfriend got you a hat to match your shoes.”

We spend another minute staring at the writing on the package. It’s ornate, a bit like calligraphy. All it says is “Detective’s Office”.

Finally I take the pocket knife out of my back pocket with a flourish and snap it open, then cut off the outer wrapping.

“You were right,” I say. “It’s a hat box.”

There’s a faded watermark on the bottom, “Classic” something or another – I can’t quite make it out. I slit open the packing tape, and underneath several layers of newspaper I find a heavy book, wrapped in what appears to be several layers of silk.

There’s a note on top, in the same calligraphy. Jewel and I read it together.

“Looks like your case just solved itself,” says Jewel.

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

“Ring up Mrs. Browning at the Cumberland,” I say. “Tell her I’m on my way over. And Jewel – don’t tell her what I’m bringing.”

 Circle Document 2 in your case log. You have gained access to Document 2 (Note with Hat Box), which can be found at the back of this case book on page 210.

 Record the following mandatory event in your schedule:

- When: Today, day #2 (Tuesday, March 2nd, 1948).
- Time: 7pm
- Where: 4-4158 \(p.114\)
- Mandatory: YES.

When you reach this time (or finish an action that causes you to surpass it) you are required to go to the specified lead above, which will instruct you on how to conclude your day.

 You are now ready to start your day. On a blank case log sheet record that it is Day 2 (Tue, Mar 2nd) and that the current time is 10am. Then close this case book and begin searching for leads in the directories. Don’t forget to keep an eye on your schedule for the 7pm event above that will trigger and lead to the conclusion of your work day.

 Note: There are specific hints available for each of the the day’s required items (see table of contents). However, if you need guidance on where to focus your efforts on any given day, you can drop by your old police precinct in the Financial District for some advice: 8-1410 \(p.193\). If you arrive between noon and 2pm you can catch the chief on his lunch break and get the advice without penalty.

STOP!

Stop reading this case book now, and begin searching for leads in the directories.

Do not turn the page. You should have set an event which will trigger at the end of day 2, which will instruct you on what to do when the day ends.

Day 2 End-of-shift Briefing

After a busy day I'm ready to hop on a train and hit the sack. But I guess the night is still young; I could squeeze in one more stop before I head home.

 You may now choose ONE AND ONLY ONE of the following special late-night leads to visit:

- Ask Jewel to try to finagle a pair of tickets to the midnight exhibit at the Natural History Museum; go to 8-5827 on p.199, and then return here.
- OR, head over to the Cumberland Hotel bar for a night cap and to look around; go to 3-1133 on p.90, and then return here.

After you resolve your choice you may proceed to the next page to start the next day.

STOP!

Turn the page when you are ready to begin day 3.

NOTE: If you've been playing for a couple of hours, now might be a good time to take a break before continuing...

Day 3

Day 3 Morning

8 AM - Wednesday, March 3rd, 1948

Not wanting to be caught flat-footed again, Jewel and I are having our coffee on the stoop outside the office this morning, listening to the radio.

 ... You are listening to WABC radio in New York City. These are your top headlines. In domestic news, the House Judiciary Committee has passed the Anti-Lynching bill in a 2 to 1 vote, marking the second item achieved by president Truman from his promised civil rights agenda. ...In local news, Beth Israel doctors revealed that the condition of the subway attendant assaulted without warning on Tuesday has been upgraded to stable condition. His attacker remains unidentified and at large. A subway spokesman has advised subway riders to exercise caution and be aware of their surroundings.. And in what police are saying is an unrelated attack, a man was murdered last night in central park near the Engineer's Gate. ...And now a word from our sponsors... When you absolutely positively have to get there on time: A1 Carriage and Cab -- the safe and civilized way to travel...

I show Jewel the sketch I made of Mrs. Browning on the way into work.

“You’re getting better,” says Jewel. “But you didn’t quite capture her latent malevolence.”

“She’s a client, Jewel, be good.”

 Circle Document 7 in your case log. You have gained access to Document 7 (Sketch of Mrs. Browning), which can be found at the back of this case book on page 215.

I take another big swig of my cup. “You’re going to have to tell me where you get this coffee from one of these days.”

“You’re the detective, figure it out.”

“Jewel, don’t make me follow you home.”

She rolls her eyes at me. “Promises, promises.”

Before I can say something stupid, a small white van pulls up with the word “SPEEDY” written on the side, and a young man in overalls hops out, bounds up the steps, and lays an envelope in front of our door. “Mmm... the coffee smells good,” he says, and winks at Jewel. “I could do with a cup myself.” And then he’s off.

I roll my eyes. “Good grief.”

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

The writing on the envelope seems to match the hat box note from yesterday. Again, no return address.

“You know,” says Jewel, “Mrs. Browning has called twice this morning asking if we’ve made any progress finding her book. Want me to ring her up and let her know about this note?”

“Hmmm... I don’t know... Maybe Mrs. Browning should sit this one out.”

 Circle Document 3 in your case log. You have gained access to Document 3 (Letter from Mystery Sender), which can be found at the back of this case book on page 211.

 Record the following mandatory event in your schedule:

- When: Today, day #3 (Wednesday, March 3rd, 1948).
- Time: 8pm
- Where: 3-2915 \(p.92\)
- Mandatory: YES.

When you reach this time (or finish an action that causes you to surpass it) you are required to go to the specified lead above, which will instruct you on how to conclude your day.

 You are now ready to start your day. On a blank case log sheet record that it is Day 3 (Wed, Mar 3rd) and that the current time is 8am. Then close this case book and begin searching for leads in the directories. Don’t forget to keep an eye on your schedule for the 8pm event above that will trigger and lead to the conclusion of your work day.

 Note: There are specific hints available for each of the the day’s required items (see table of contents). However, if you need guidance on where to focus your efforts on any given day, you can drop by your old police precinct in the Financial District for some advice: 8-1410 \(p.193\). If you arrive between noon and 2pm you can catch the chief on his lunch break and get the advice without penalty.

STOP!

Stop reading this case book now, and begin searching for leads in the directories.

Do not turn the page. You should have set an event which will trigger at the end of day 3, which will instruct you on what to do when the day ends.

Day 3 End-of-shift Briefing

Back at the office, Jewel is as anxious as ever to talk about the case...

It's 8pm on Wednesday, March 3rd, 1948 (day #3), and your case is coming to an end.

If there are still leads you wish to visit before ending the case, you may visit those leads now.

Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log if you choose to do so.

Consider yourself in overtime. In overtime there is no limit to how many leads you may visit, and time does not advance past 8pm (ignore any instructions to do so).

When you are ready to conclude the case and answer questions, proceed to Conclusion \(p.217\).

LEADS

STOP!

WARNING! Do not read through the rest of this document like a book from beginning to end. Lead entries are meant to be read individually only when you look up a lead by its number.

Close this book now and follow rulebook instructions for looking up leads.

1

1-0108

Larchmont Mid-Town Taxi Service (7-4777 on p.181) contd.

I'm not sure what to ask the taxi company about, and as it turns out, they don't have any suggestions.

1-0396

Hint for Marker C1 (p.238) contd.

Hint: They must have dipped into some entry or exit to something and made their escape. Retract your steps and look for where they may have been heading to... You must have given up the trail too soon.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

1-1111

Carnegie District Precinct (7-7572 on p.187) - after day 2

Time: 60 minutes

The Carnegie precinct looks like a cushy detail for cops wanting to enjoy the second half of their careers. Back when I was a cop, I wouldn't be caught dead working in such a sleepy neighborhood. The decor looks like they aren't hurting for money either.

I look around on the off-chance that I recognize someone, but no such luck, so I tell the officer on duty that I'm a PI and may have some information about yesterday's murder at the Engineer's Gate in Central Park. He directs me to the detectives' room up the wide polished marble staircase.

The detective in charge of the case has his own office, and not a small one. He's eating a sandwich with a knife and a fork. He sees me staring at his plate.

"My dentures are acting up," he says, pointing to his mouth with his fork, as if that explained it. "What do you know about my murder?"

"Was he a tall guy, tan suit, pencil-thin moustache?"

"Yeah, what do you know about him?"

I decide that he doesn't need to know about Mrs. Browning and her book, and just tell him that I think it's likely he was killed by the same guy who cut the throat of the subway attendant at 51st Street.

"Did you identify the body?" I ask.

Dentures pauses with the fork half-way in his mouth and peers up at me. This guy's going to make me work for it.

"Was it by any chance a Walenty Gorski?" I ask.

"No. Who's Gorski?"

I lean closer and give him my best "we're on the same team" look. "Tell you what: I'll share what I know if you give me the name of the victim. It's going to be in the paper by tomorrow anyway."

After a bit more back-and-forth he tells me that the dead guy was Constantine Afanasyev, resident of East Village. He was found face-down outside of Central Park, at the Engineer's Gate entrance. He had a large buck knife in his lower back, and was stabbed several times. Was probably dead within minutes.

They think he was killed late last night. He didn't have Gorski's mail on him, just a wallet with a few bucks, some change, a driver's license, and some weird notes that they couldn't make sense of – written in a foreign language, they think. I ask to see the notes and he tells me I'd have a better chance getting a date with Lana Turner.

"We're still waiting on an autopsy from the Chief Medical examiner, but it looks like this guy was dead within minutes of the attack – didn't even get a chance to run."

"Any idea what he was doing uptown?" I finally ask.

"You tell me," he says, forking in another square.

Circle Marker A2 in your case log.

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

1-1996

Cumberland Hotel Staff, Day 3

If you have circled Marker Z1 in your case log, then go to 4-1463 on p.105.

Otherwise, if you have circled Marker Y1 in your case log, then go to 4-6134 on p.121.

Otherwise, go to 4-5627 \(p.120\)

1-2791

*Phoenix Safe Company
128 E. 86th St, CM
Time: 60 minutes*

The Phoenix Safe Company shop is hard to miss: Painted on the large glass window is a figure of a strange looking bird, with white feathered wings outstretched and surrounded by bright orange flames. The name of the shop in large orange letters above it. But inside it's small – just a showroom and a door that's ajar to a small back room. On the wall of the showroom there's a big ornate wooden crucifix, above a long antique wooden dresser covered with flickering candles in tall painted jars bearing the names of Christian angels and saints. Through the doorway to the back room I can see a smaller crucifix mounted on the office wall, as well as a large black floor safe. But I can't see all the way inside to tell if there's anyone in there. In the showroom, at the front desk, is a well-dressed old man with thinning white hair and a big smile. He seems genuinely excited to chat about locks and safes.

I introduce myself and look around the showroom a bit, thinking about whether we could use a safe for the office.

"Let me ask you something," I say. "How hard would it be to get into a hotel room door? How long would it take?"

"I suppose it depends," he says, "on whether it's the Waldorf Astoria or some rinky-dink hotel, and on whether you wanted it done properly or it was a rush job."

"Could I hire you to open a hotel room door for me?" I ask.

There's a long pause and he seems to be sizing me up, then he takes a step backward and says "Well, only if you're the hotel manager." Behind him I see a younger gentleman peer out of the back room doorway, brushing back his long brown hair.

"Everything OK out there, Pop?"

"You sure you're a P.I.?" the old man asks.

"Well, that's what it says in the phone book."

"A comedian too, huh?" and he gives a big grin.

We both chuckle, and I head out.

Circle Marker M1 in your case log.

1-3563

The E.51st St. Church
455 E. 51st St, TB

If you have circled Marker A1 in your case log, go to 8-8837 \(p.204\)

Otherwise, go to 2-2160 on p.58.

1-4219

Empire Pawnbrokers

148 Forsyth St, BO

Time: 60 minutes

I check out the pawn shop carefully but there's no sign of the missing jewelry or anything even similar.

1-4441

River House Apartments

435 E. 52nd St, TB-40

Time: 60 minutes

There's no doorman or maintenance guy on duty at the River House Apartments, and there are no public mailboxes.

If you have circled Marker A1 in your case log, go to 8-8408 on p.203.

Otherwise, go to 2-3201 on p.62.

1-4670

Chief Medical Examiner (4-7384 on p.124) contd.

Time: 60 minutes

I loiter around the medical examiner's office trying to pick up on any gossip or rumors, but there's nothing.

1-4797

Epilogue (p.223) contd.

“Well... It could be worse,” says Jewel.

“Hey, that’s my motto,” I say.

“Har har,” says Jewel.

“It could be worse... Does that mean we’ve got enough money in the kitty for me to take you to the movies?”

Jewel turns around and heads out, saying over her shoulder, “You’ve got enough saved for one ticket, Jack. Let me know how it ends.” Return to Epilogue \(p.223\).

1-4942

Epilogue (p.223) - Sell it

I reach out to a contact I have at an auction house up town, who I know won't ask questions. The book never comes up for auction, of course, but my contact sells it to a local collector for a thousand bucks – or at least that's what he tells me it sold for. We split the proceeds and I end up with 500 dollars. That's a hell of a lot less than it would have gotten at a public auction, but then there'd be too many questions asked. I can't help but wonder if I made the right decision.

 Circle Marker S1 in your case log.

Return to Epilogue \(p.223\).

1-4981

Maria F. Arteaga
1545 Madison Ave, SH
Time: 60 minutes

I find Maria Arteaga hanging up laundry in a small house front in Spanish Harlem. She looks tired, and she doesn't stop hanging clothes when I introduce myself..

"Thanks for talking to me, Maria. I'm sorry to bother you at your home, it's just that I'm in a bit of a hurry. Can you tell me anything about the fare you picked up on Tuesday night, around midnight, near the park?"

She remembers the late night fare from Tuesday. Big giant man with hairy hands and a bushy beard, with a thick black head of unruly hair.

"At least 6 and a half feet tall, I'd say."

"A big boy, huh? Was he talkative?"

"No, just told me he wanted to be dropped off at the Cumberland Hotel. He had an accent, Indian I think? Does that help?"

"Hmm... I'm not sure," I say. "Anything else?"

"Well, he told me his name."

"He told you his name?" I repeat, shocked.

"Well, I introduce myself to everyone who gets into my cab. I say 'Greetings, friend, my name is Maria Ateaga, and I'll be your driver today, and what's your name?' And nine times out of ten they'll tell me their life story, or ask to hear mine."

"And this guy?"

"Well, he just said his name and then clammed up. Let me think... What did he say his name was again... Choku or Chako, something like that. Not American, that's for sure."

"Thanks, that's helpful. Anything else you remember?"

"Not really," she says. "Except that he smelled something strange. I couldn't quite place it... like cloves and rose petals mixed together."

That's when I feel the hairs on the back of my neck stand up.

 Circle Marker Y1 in your case log.

1-5160

Hint for Marker K1 (p.246) contd.

Hint: Ask yourself who might be using this pawn shop...

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

1-5280

Hint for Document 6 (p.235) contd.

Hint: The radio station tells you where a murder occurred up down near central park.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

1-5654

Consulate of India (5-6094 on p.139) contd.

Time: 60 minutes

I happen to know one of the security guys who works at the India Consulate, a retired cop named Jeffrey Haykin. I have to wait for nearly an hour for him to come downstairs, but that probably works in my favor as he feels bad for making me wait so long.

I describe my guy to him, give him my best guess at a name – Choku or Chako, or something similar – and tell him this guy is too violent to have avoided a criminal record.

Jeff heads back upstairs, and a half-hour later he's back with a name.

“Choka Bahandari. He's a bad dude. Served time in India for animal abuse and some kind of ritualistic killing, before some batshit crazy rich white lady bribed someone at the jail and the next thing you know he shows up in the US.”

“Thanks, Jeff, I owe you one.”

“Be careful, Jack,” he calls out to me, “this guy is dangerous.”

Circle Marker Z1 in your case log.

1-6801

Hint for Marker A1 (p.236) contd.

Hint: Find Gorski's apartment, then use the reverse directory to identify the neighbors on his floor, and visit them. One of them will surely have information about who is accessing his apartment and when.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

1-7000

Classic Hats and Headwear

161 E. 82nd St, CM

Time: 60 minutes

I spot the same logo from the bottom of the hat box on the window of Classic Hats and Headwear.

“This a chain shop like Adam Hats, or this the only one?” I ask the shopkeep, a well-dressed middle-aged man with dirty-blond hair.

“One of a kind, sir – there’s no better hat shop in the city.”

“I don’t suppose you also sell rare books, do ya?”

“Sir?”

1-7398

Wannemaker and Son Rare Books (3-5394 on p.97) contd.

Ulrich Wannemaker, the proprietor of Wannemaker and Son, stares in awe when I show him the book.

“My God,” he says, turning the pages almost reverently. “It’s magnificent.”

“It’s real?” I ask, unable to hide my surprise.

“It’s an Octavo King James Bible. The best one I’ve ever seen.”

“And it’s authentic? Nothing strange about it?”

He takes my question seriously, and studies it carefully for several minutes before pronouncing his verdict. “No doubt about its authenticity. And I don’t see anything unusual about it other than its pristine condition. It’s been extremely well cared for, The hand-colored plates are exquisite. I don’t think a finer copy has ever been found. Where on earth did you get it?”

“It’s a long story,” I say. “Could you estimate its value?”

“I really couldn’t say. I’ve never heard of one in this condition coming up for auction.”

“A ballpark figure?”

“Well... Maybe $5,000?”

I take off my hat and whistle. He closes the book, and we both stare at it for a long while.

 Circle Marker D2 in your case log.

1-8423

Cumberland Hotel, Day 2

- If you want to talk to hotel staff, go to 6-7209 on p.167.

Otherwise, if you wish to call up to Room 713, go to 1-8989 \(p.52\)

1-8563

Hint for Marker M1 (p.248) contd.

Hint: There are several neighborhoods of interest in your case, including Times Square, the Lower East Side, and Carnegie Mansion. Look for locksmiths in those areas.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

1-8779

Carnegie Mansion Taxicabs (5-0470 on p.128) contd.

I'm not sure what to ask the taxi company about, and as it turns out, they don't have any suggestions.

1-8786

NYC Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV)

366 W. 31st St, CS-13

Time: 60 minutes

- If you have not circled Document 4 in your case log, go to 6-7764 on p.170.

Otherwise, go to 6-9443 on p.174.

1-8989

Room 713 of the Cumberland Hotel

Time: 60 minutes

I head up to room 713 of the Cumberland. That strange smell hits me again as I leave the elevator, but it's gone – or I get used to it – by the time I reach the room.

Mrs. Browning opens the door as I'm in the middle of knocking. She sees the box in my arms and takes it from me without speaking.

"You found it," she says.

"Well... not exactly," I demur. She doesn't really hear me.

She excitedly unwraps the book on the counter and moves her hands across it, seemingly relieved.

"This is your book?" I ask.

"I. Think so.. " she says, opening it, the relief settling into her voice. But then after a few more seconds: "Well... wait..."

She starts flipping through the pages. "No, no, this isn't right!"

That's not what I wanted to hear.

"What's wrong, Mrs Browning?"

"It's not my book. It's not my book."

She shoves it roughly aside, disgusted.

"You're quite sure?" I ask.

She looks at me for the first time with real anger. "It's not my god damned book. What are you trying to do, Mr. Deverell? Did you think I wouldn't know my own book? Did you think I would thank you and crawl away back home? Find my god damned book!"

I'm taken aback by her reaction, just as another wave of the strange smell hits me from the bedroom. I try to snap out of it. "I'll keep looking," is all I can think to say, then, "Don't worry. I'll find your book."

That seems to break through, and I can see tears starting to well up in her eyes. "I need that book back, Mr. Deverell. It's all I have left of my family."

"I'll find it," I say, as I pick up the 'wrong' book and see myself out.

Circle Marker E1 in your case log.

1-9561

*Times Square Precinct
50th St & 6th Ave, TS
Time: 60 minutes*

I check in with some old friends at the Times Square police precinct, and they confirm the broad strokes of Mrs. Browning's story. Namely that she filed a report on items stolen from her hotel room on Monday morning, and that I was one of several people the detectives recommended if she actually wanted to try to get her items back.

1-9825

*Goud, R. - Apt. 3d
435 E. 52nd St, TB (apt. 3d)
Time: 60 minutes*

The door to Apt. 3d is opened by an elderly woman with curlers in her hair. A shirtless man in his boxers stands behind her, his thinning hair a tangled mess.

“Oh, come in, come in, dearie,” she says, “it’s in the bathroom.”

“What’s in the bathroom?” I say, taking off my hat, and smoothing down my hair.

“The toilet,” she says.

“Oh, that’s OK, I’ve seen one before.”

The old man behind her scrunches up his face and gives a little “feh” gesture with his hand.

“Actually, ma’am, I’m hoping you can tell me something about your neighbor in 3c – a Mr. Gorski.”

“Eh, no one lives there,” grunts the old man from the back, waving his arm in a gesture he seems to be awfully fond of.

The old woman in curlers leans in to talk to me, her voice taking on a conspiratorial tone. “There’s something very strange about that apartment, dearie. Someone comes by every Tuesday morning to get the mail, like clockwork.”

“Oh? What do they look like?” I ask.

“Well... I haven’t seen them myself. I like to stay inside. But I hear them,” she taps her finger to her ear, “through the door, you see. Every Tuesday, like clockwork. They unlock the door, they go in, they collect the mail, and then they leave. Only takes them a minute – just like clockwork.”

“Thank you very much, dearie.” I say.

Circle Marker AI in your case log.

2

2-0387

Speedy Citywide Parcels
129 E. 94th St, CM

If it is before day 2 (Tue Mar 2), there is no reason for me to be here, so I leave.

If it is after day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 2-8392 \(p.83\), then continue below.

If it is day 3 (Wed Mar 3), go to 5-3149 \(p.134\)

2-0812

Financial District Precinct (8-1410 on p.193) contd.

“Looks like I’m making progress but I’m not sure where to focus my efforts – any ideas?”

“Well, for sure you should track down both of the dealers and figure out as much about them as you can – or at least until you know who you are dealing with. Then there’s the issue of the stolen jewelry. It’s hard to know if it’s central to your case or not, but you should definitely chase down the details and try to put a bow on that – at least figure out who’s involved even if hard proof and recovering the jewels is outside the scope of your work. Maybe track down those packages as well – might give you a few more clues about who’s behind this whole thing.”

“What about these stabbings – I’m sure they’re related to my case.”

“Well then, track down the victims and see what you can learn about them. Where did they live? Where did they work? Etc. I always tell you to focus on the people, the rest will fall into place. And have you got a theory about how the book was taken? Seems to me you need to develop a theory for who could have taken it and how, even if their motives are unclear. Remember, Jack, you cut your teeth in financial crimes; sometimes a motive is as simple as pay for hire, so It wouldn’t hurt to try to follow up that angle and knock on a few doors.”

Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log unless it’s between noon-2pm.

2-2160

The E.51st St. Church (1-3563 on p.35) contd.

The large alcove entrance to the church would be a good place to observe the apartment building across the street, but I've no idea what I'd be looking for.

2-2615

Hint for Document 4 (p.233) contd.

Hint: Once you identify the murder victim you should be able to locate his house and visit it.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

2-2956

Library Consultation

Time: 60 minutes

I show off the book to the clerks at the rare manuscripts and religion departments. Everyone is impressed, but they have no idea if it's genuine. Finally one of them recommends I bring it to Wannemaker and Son Rare Books, who will surely know about it.

2-3096

Epilogue (p.223) - Forget all about it

I take a deep breath, and then walk slowly from behind my desk to pick up the heavy tome.

“Jewel, you and I are going to forget all about this book,” I say, as I pick it up and slide it into the bottom shelf of my bookcase on the wall, next to my dog-eared copy of a Study in Scarlet.

“What book?” says Jewel.

Circle Marker TI in your case log.

Return to Epilogue \(p.223\).

2-3201

River House Apartments (1-4441 on p.37) contd.

I loiter around the building a bit but decide it's time to leave when I start getting nasty looks from residents.

2-3383

Cumberland Hotel
Broadway at 54th St, TS-31

If it is day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 2-6088 \(p.77\)

If it is day 2 (Tue Mar 2), go to 1-8423 \(p.48\)

If it is day 3 (Wed Mar 3), go to 3-9569 \(p.103\)

2-3482

Central City Taxi
156 E. 45th St, TB
Time: 60 minutes

If you have circled Marker C1 in your case log, go to 6-6857 on p.166.

Otherwise, go to 4-1852 on p.107.

2-3501

E. 51st St. Church (8-8837 on p.204) - on day 2

Time: 60 minutes

I settle into the darkened alcove of the 51st St. Church, with a good view of the River House Apartments. I've got a supply of coffee and cigarettes, but I'm hoping this won't be an all day affair. The only problem with the place I've chosen is I'm getting occasional nasty looks from passers-by. One big guy across the street looks like he's fixing to come over and heave me out of my hidey-hole, but then thinks better of it when he sees I'm settled in with my coffee and won't be easy to dislodge. I guess it's true that they don't take kindly to loitering in Turtle Bay.

Meanwhile I'm looking for someone that matches Gorski's description – short, balding, with wire-rim glasses. Then I just have to figure out what to do if he shows up to pick up his mail.

An hour in, I see someone head to the entrance who looks out of place. It's definitely not Gorski. He's wearing a tan suit and hat. Clean shaven. Tall and skinny, with a pencil moustache. There's something odd about the way he's carrying himself, though – he's not walking like he's heading home, he's walking like he's just making a quick stop.

A couple of minutes after coming in the front door, he's out again, stuffing envelopes into his jacket pocket. Bingo. I don't know who this guy is, but there can't be much doubt he's just gone and collected Gorski's mail for the week. I decide to tail him.

He heads back down 52nd Street, the way he came. He's on the north side of the street, and I'm across the street on the south side, maybe 500 hundred feet behind him – half a block away. Not many people on the street this far east, but if he keeps going west I'm going to have to close some ground if I don't want to lose him.

Sure enough he keeps heading west, across 2nd Avenue, and then right past the 17th Precinct, where he doesn't skip a beat. I'm trying to pick up my pace but he's still a couple hundred feet in front of me, and when he gets to Lexington he crosses the street against the light, then turns left, and I lose sight of him as he heads South down Lexington.

I jog to the corner as inconspicuously as I can in a suit and hat, and look to the left, but I don't see him. He can't have gone far – but where did he go?

Circle Marker HI in your case log.

2-4231

Jump the turnstile and follow the train

Time: 60 minutes

I call out towards the steps – “Help! I need some help down here! A man’s been injured.” Then I take off my tie and give it to the man, motioning that he should put it around his neck – but he’s in shock, he’s not hearing anything I’m saying. I hear footsteps coming down the stairs, and decide I’m not much more good to him now.

I jump the turnstile and rush through into the doors of the uptown IRT just as they’re closing. The train pulls out of the station, and I can hear some faint screaming from the platform.

I sit down and try to calm my breathing and regain my wits. What just happened? I don’t think I was spotted by my guy, but even if I was, why would he have attacked this attendant? Was this just a coincidence?

I look around for my guy in the tan suit. Everyone looks suspicious and malevolent, and I’m having trouble concentrating. Eventually I do spot him, calm as can be, reading a paperback at the end of the car without a care in the world.

By the time we get to Lenox Hill, my breathing has slowed down. At 86th Street my guy gets up and heads to the door. I look for signs he knows he’s being followed, but he seems oblivious. If this is the guy who cut the throat of the subway attendant, his veins are filled with ice water.

I head to the same door, determined not to lose him again – but there’s a small crowd of people between us, and as the doors open he’s first to exit, while the lady in front of me struggles with her shopping cart.

By the time I get out of the door I’ve lost sight of him, but I pick up my pace towards the exit as the train pulls away, and it won’t be hard to spot him once we get up to street level.

There’s nowhere for him to go but up.

Then suddenly I’m slammed hard from the left. Feels like I walked in front of a train, and for a minute that’s where my brain goes. But then I’m over the edge of the platform and onto the train tracks, my ankle twisting as I fall. I hit my head hard on one of the rails.

My vision swims, and for a second that strange, exotic smell fills my nostrils. I feel myself black out for a moment. Seconds later I come to with blood pounding a drumbeat in my head, struggling to stand up, stumbling to pick up my hat which lies a few feet away.

A small crowd has gathered on the platform, yelling to me, and a muscled young man is reaching down to help me up off the tracks.

I drag myself painfully onto the platform, my head still throbbing. I touch it gingerly and wet blood smears my fingers. The ankle’s sore as well, but it doesn’t seem to be broken and it still holds me – just – as I hobble towards the exit. Should probably go to a doctor to get both of them checked out, but I don’t have the time or the money.

I press a handkerchief to the cut until it stops bleeding, then brush off my pants and do my best to get my bearings. Back on the street I suck in the clear air gratefully, but there’s no sign of my guy.

Circle Marker R1 in your case log.

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

2-4289

The Bowery Pawnbroker

300 Bowery, BO

Time: 60 minutes

They don't even seem to carry jewelry in the Bowery Pawnbroker.

2-4314

Room 713 of the Cumberland Hotel

Time: 60 minutes

I take the elevator to the 7th floor of the Cumberland, and remove my hat before knocking on the door of 713.

Mrs. Browning opens the door, wearing heels and a black dress. She seems perhaps a little surprised to see me.

"I didn't expect to see you so soon," she says, turning her back to me and retreating into the room. I follow her in. "Have you found it already?"

"No, no. I just thought I should come and take a look at the scene of the crime, as it were. May I?" I gesture to the room.

"Of course."

I start by taking a look at the door and its lock. Standard hotel fare – nothing fancy, and it certainly hasn't been forced. The lock does look a little scraped up and it seems like there might be a little bit of oil around the lock face, but it's hard to know how old that might be or if it means anything. There's certainly no obvious signs of breaking and entering.

I begin to walk aimlessly around the room, taking it all in, hat in hand. Mrs. Browning leans against the room bar, a drink in her hand. She doesn't offer me one.

"It's just you then? You came into the city alone, yesterday?"

"The day before yesterday."

"And you weren't concerned about traveling alone with such an expensive item? You weren't worried that you might be robbed?"

"I've never had any trouble before. I prefer to travel inconspicuously."

She doesn't really seem like the inconspicuous type to me, but I don't press the issue.

"And when they came to look at the book... It was here in the main room?"

"No, it was in the bedroom," she says, pointing. I head in.

There's a slightly strange smell in the room – something like smoke, but a little more exotic. It tickles my throat a bit. I can't quite place it.

I look out the windows. It's a long way down, and no ledge.

"You said the book was taken while you were across the street for breakfast, yeah?"

"Yes."

"And where did you leave the book when you left the room?"

"It was in my suitcase, in the closet." She indicates the bedroom closet. "Under a hat box, and other things."

"And the men who came to look at it, did they see where you kept it?"

"No."

"And you said they also took some jewelry?"

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

“Yes, a set of ruby earrings and a matching ruby necklace and bracelet. From the nightstand, here.” She points.

“They were sitting on top of the nightstand, or in the drawer?”

She thinks for a moment. “Inside the drawer.”

“You’re sure?”

“I am sure.”

“Is it possible that the jewelry was taken earlier, while the book was being examined? Did you leave either of the men alone in the room for any period of time?”

She thinks for a moment. “I don’t think so... I suppose I might have left them alone in the room briefly while I went to make a drink or to have a cigarette.”

“And the two men you told me about, those are the only men who’ve been up in your room since you’ve been in the hotel?”

She narrows her eyes at me before answering. “Yes.”

“Is there anyone else you can think of who knows you’ve come to New York to have the book appraised, and knows where you’re staying?”

“No. Certainly not.”

“Hmm...” I pace around the room for a few more quiet minutes, thinking and tapping my hat against my hand.

“Can I offer you a drink, Mr. Deverell?”

“No, no, I should be going. I’ll stop by tomorrow and give you an update.”

“Very well. Would you be so kind as to ring up beforehand – I don’t mean to seem rude, but a lady sometimes needs time to get her face on.”

“Of course,” I say apologetically, noticing a harshness in her eyes that I hadn’t seen earlier. “I’ll be in touch.”

I head out to the elevator, troubled by the strange lingering smell from the bedroom, which seems to be following me down the corridor.

Circle Marker D1 in your case log.

2-4691

Hint for Marker C1 (p.238) contd.

Hint: If you lost track of them, retrace your steps, you probably just lost their trail somewhere.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

2-4932

Financial District Precinct (8-1410 on p.193) contd.

Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log.

“Any thoughts on whether I might be missing anything important?” I ask.

“Just to make sure you’ve dotted all your i’s and crossed all of your t’s,” he says, then reaches for a cigar on his desk as he continues:

“You’ve described tailing this Wyckoff guy from his bookstore. It sure sounds like he spotted you right before he got to his final destination. I hope you were able to figure out where he was likely going.

I’m not sure it would help in that case, since he was on foot, but you have remembered to talk to taxi companies in your neighborhoods of interest, yeah? Those can sometimes strike gold, especially when you’re dealing with rich people who may want to avoid public transportation.

And I know you like to have hard and fast proof for everything, Jack, but sometimes in a case like this the best you can do is circumstantial evidence that puts the right person at the right place at the right time – so to speak.

Now about your murders: if you haven’t identified the culprit by name, well, it may mean there’s no way to do so... On the other hand, it may be that you can, if you can locate people who interacted with him, and get enough pieces of identifying information out of them.

If you can get a good description from someone who saw him, it’s possible you can reach out to a governmental office that could put a name to a face. Then maybe you can figure out how he connects to someone else in your case.

Now regarding the whereabouts of the book, let me see those notes you got.”

I hand him the notes and he chews on his cigar, thinking.

“The one that stands out to me as being a little strange is this last one.” He hands it back to me and continues, “Something about this one feels a bit odd. Not like it’s a code or cipher, but more just oddly worded.”

“All the notes sound odd to me,” I say, “like this guy had a screw loose.”

“Well, they’re definitely from a fanatic; I’m just not sure they’re from a murderer. Whoever’s sending these seems to view you not as a threat or rival, but more as a confidant.”

“Any thoughts on the stolen jewelry?” I ask.

“Well, assuming they’ve just stolen it to sell it, you may have a hard time putting eyes on it. They’re likely to keep it under wraps until it’s safe to dispose of. But you may be able to get a good idea who was involved just by talking to suspects and observing them closely – looking and listening for ‘tells’ – slip ups that suggest they know something more than they’re saying.”

“Thanks,” I say. “I appreciate the talk, chief.”

“Anytime,” he says.

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

- You may now return to the conclusion and answer questions for no further penalty: Go to Conclusion \(p.217\).
- Or

Tick 5 demerit boxes in your case log.

, and resume searching for leads before returning to the conclusion.

2-5390

Hint for Marker Y1 (p.253) contd.

Hint: Once you determine their nationality you may be able to find a government office that has info on them.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

2-5562

Epilogue (p.223) - Return it

I reach out to a friend I trust, someone highly-regarded among the upper-class religious crowd. After a couple of weeks he tells me he's made contact with the original owner of the book, and I hand it over to him. A couple of days later I get an anonymous phone call. The voice on the other end says three short words before hanging up: "God bless you."

Frankly I would have preferred a finder's fee.

Circle Marker Q1 in your case log.

Return to Epilogue \(p.223\).

2-5991

Financial District Precinct (8-1410 on p.193) contd.

“What do you think? Where should I start?”

“Well...” he says, “I’d say on your first day, make sure you check out the scene of the crime with your own eyes, and try to talk to the people that may have been granted access to it. In addition to hotel staff, it sounds like you’ve got two main suspects at this point, so maybe try to at least visit both of them and see what they’re all about. I wouldn’t worry too much about the book itself for now – focus on the people and the rest will follow.”

Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log unless it's between noon-2pm.

2-6088

Cumberland Hotel, Day 1

- If you want to talk to hotel staff, go to 4-2483 on p.110.

Otherwise, if you wish to call up to Room 713, go to 2-4314 (p.69)

2-6610

Carnegie Mansion Taxicabs (5-0470 on p.128) contd.

At first I'm not sure what to ask the taxi dispatcher about; then a thought strikes me.

"Did you guys happen to pick up anyone late last night, somewhere around 90th and 5th, off the park?"

The dispatcher goes through his book and I can see his finger stop on an entry. "What do I get if I tell you we did?"

"My eternal gratitude," I say with a smile. Sometimes a little charm goes further than a dollar.

"A passenger was picked up last night on 89th Street and Madison Avenue at 5 past midnight."

"And where'd he go?"

"Let me see... Looks like corner of 54th street and Broadway. That any help?"

"Sure is," I say. "I owe you one."

"I don't suppose you could describe the passenger?" I ask, as I put my hat back on my head.

"Sure can't," he says. "Though you could come back tomorrow and talk to Maria Arteaga – she's the cabbie who picked him up."

"Thanks again," I say. "I just might do that."

2-7544

Hint for Marker D2 (p.240) contd.

Hint: Perhaps the New York Public Library will have an expert to point you in the right direction.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

2-7768

Convent of the Sacred Heart

4 E. 91st St, CM-21

Time: 60 minutes

If you have not circled Document 5 in your case log: I walk around the outside of the building looking for something to tie this place into my case, but find nothing.

Otherwise, go to 8-4237 on p.197.

2-8111

Beth Israel Teaching Hospital (8-0109 on p.191) contd.

I walk around the hospital trying to remember what I was looking for but give up after a few minutes.

2-8381

*Rizzo, C. - Apt. 3e
435 E. 52nd St, TB (apt. 3e)
Time: 60 minutes*

No one answers the door to apartment 3e.

2-8392

The nice thing about the small startup delivery services is that they haven't bought into the paranoia about privacy. Ask nicely and with a bit of authority, and more often than not, they will tell you everything they know.

Unfortunately in this case it's not much. The package was a walk-in, and they paid with cash. No return address given. The guy behind the counter does remember the fancy calligraphy on the plain brown box, though, and remembers what the guy who brought it in looked like:

"Short, balding, wire-rim glasses. Left heading south. Is that helpful?"

"Very helpful," I say.

Circle Marker L1 in your case log.

Time advances 60 minutes.

- Return to 2-0387 \(p.56\)

2-8549

Wyckoff's Rare Books
60 3rd Ave, EV

- If it is day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 4-6599 on p.123.

Otherwise, go to 5-6719 on p.144.

2-9509

Hint for Marker L1 (p.247) contd.

Hint: Speedy Citywide Parcels is in the Carnegie Mansion neighborhood.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

3

3-0038

Hint for Document 5 (p.234) contd.

Hint: Try the Department of Parking Enforcement; his parking tickets may show where his car was normally parked.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

3-0407

Department of Finance (6-5810 on p.165) contd.

The tax records for ownership for the Convent of the Sacred Heart come back to the same address in Italy. Return to 6-5810 \(p.165\).

3-0506

Klitnick and Brother Ice Cream
590 Lexington Ave, TB

I could use an ice cream bar, but a quick glance through the glass front door tells me my guy isn't here.

3-1133

Day 2 End-of-shift Briefing (p.21) - Late Night Drink at the Cumberland Hotel

I take a seat at the Cumberland Hotel bar and order a whiskey, neat. Nothing fancy about the bar, but it does offer me a discreet view of the lobby from where I'm seated.

There's a girl to my left who looks like she might have been a dancer in another life. She's too tan to be a New York native, so I ask her what she's doing in the city. She tells me she's traveling with her husband, and just like that, a man I recognize pulls up alongside her.

"Come on, Jenny, we'll be late," he says.

"OK, Bill, I'm coming," she says.

It's Bud Abbott. He looks shorter in real life. I look around for Lou but he's nowhere to be seen. I try to hear what they're saying as they move off, but all I pick up is something about Coney Island.

The rest of the evening is uneventful, and at around 12:45 am I call it a night and pay my tab. As I'm heading out, I almost get knocked over by someone hurrying the other way – big hulking guy with light-brown skin and a big bushy beard.

Tick 1 culture box in your case log.

Return to Day 2 End-of-shift Briefing \(p.21\).

3-1627

A Contract is a Contract

“I know where your book is, Mrs. Browning, and I suppose a contract is a contract. As no one has disputed that the book belongs to you, I’m going to tell you where it is. But I’m not happy about it.”

“I couldn’t care less how happy you are, Mr. Deverell. Now where is my book?”

I rip off a sheet of paper from the notepad on my desk and jot down the address of the Phoenix Safe Company, then slide it over to her. “I’m pretty sure you’ll find it in the floor safe in the back office.”

“You’re pretty sure I’ll find it there, are you?”

“Yeah, pretty sure.”

“Well, go get it then, Mr. Deverell – that’s what I’m paying you for.”

“No, Mrs. Browning, you’ve paid me to find the book, and I’ve found it. And now I’m done with this whole mess. You can settle up with Jewel out front.”

Mrs. Browning folds the note in half, and stares at me with a blank expression. Jewel breaks the silence.

“Mrs. Browning, if you’ll come with me I’ll get you a list of outstanding expenses. Will you be paying the remainder of your bill by check or cash?”

Mrs. Browning gives Jewel a disgusted look, then slowly opens her purse and puts the note inside, snapping it shut. “You’ll have to sue me for the remainder of that bill,” she says to me. Then she smooths down her jacket and brushes past Jewel without another word.

“That fucking bitch,” I say under my breath.

“Jack! Language!” barks Jewel.

“Meh... That fucking dame...”

Circle Marker VI in your case log.

Time advances 60 minutes.

- Return to Epilogue \(p.223\)

3-2915

Day 3 Morning (p.23) - Evening Event for day 3

It's 8pm on Wednesday, March 3rd, 1948, and day #3, the final day of your case, is ending.

The following 9 items must be found before you may move on:

- Marker G1
- Marker J1
- Marker K1
- Marker L1
- Marker M1
- Marker P1
- Document 4
- Document 5
- Document 6

Record +1 reputation in your case log for each of these items that you have already found, and an additional +9 reputation in your case log if you have already found all 9 items.

If you have not yet found all 9 items, resume searching for leads now until you have (using hints if needed), and consider yourself in “overtime” for the rest of the day; in overtime, time does not advance past 8pm.

As soon as you have found all 9 items, you must proceed to: Day 3 End-of-shift Briefing \(p.26\).

3-4440

Epilogue (p.223) contd.

“I don’t know how, but it looks like you brought this one in under budget. Maybe all my lectures on saving money are starting to pay off. You starting to pay attention to my advice, is that it?”

“Jewel, I always listen to you, You’re like the sister I never had.”

“You do have a sister, Jack.”

“Yeah, but she lives in New Jersey.”

Jewel rolls her eyes to the ceiling and turns around and heads out the door. “Maybe you can afford to take me out to dinner now.” she says.

Circle Marker W1 in your case log.

Return to Epilogue \(p.223\).

3-4452

Cremonesi's Pawnbroker
72 Allen St, EV
Time: 60 minutes

The bell rings over the door of Cremonesi's pawn shop on Allen Street. It's a dark, dusty, cramped one-room store. There's a man standing behind a counter at the far end of the room, facing me. An old guy, maybe 70 years old, with a thick head of white hair combed down in a bowl cut. There's also a younger guy sitting down next to him staring at the floor. Late 20s maybe, short brown hair cut in a similar style. Maybe these guys are cutting each other's hair. There must be a back door too, since I hear it closing behind someone leaving.

I take my time working my way to the back, looking through the worthless junk and occasional military souvenir. The old man is standing over a cabinet of jewelry. I take a quick scan – nothing made of rubies, but a few odd items like a silver necklace with what looks like a razor blade in the center, and a gold bracelet with a pentagram charm.

"I'm looking for a ruby bracelet that someone may have brought in recently."

"I don't know nothing about it." says the old man.

"I'd like to see your records," I say.

"Get lost, you – I don't got to show you nothin. I'm a taxpayer. I ain't done nothin wrong."

"It may be stolen," I tell him, "You don't want to be selling stolen merchandise, do you?"

"God damn you vermin! Always harassing me! Always trying to lock up Cremonesi! 50 years trying to lock me up! I tell you I ain't seen them. Now get out of my store, you scoundrel, before I wallop you over the head and sell your fillings!" And with that, he reaches behind him and grabs a broom from some dark shadow.

"OK, OK," I say. "Take it easy." I'm actually kind of surprised the old man knows what a broom looks like. Deciding I've heard enough, I back out the way I came in.

Circle Marker KI in your case log.

3-5027

Room 713 of the Cumberland Hotel

Time: 60 minutes

I decide to take the stairs to the 7th floor of the Cumberland, to give myself time to think about how much I should tell Mrs. Browning of what I've discovered – or how hard to press her on some lingering questions.

As I near the landing, I think I hear her voice berating the hotel help. But it's quiet in the hallway, and when I make the long walk to room 713, I can see under the door that the lights are off. I knock. No one answers. I spend a few minutes standing there listening for activity, then give up and head back downstairs.

- Go to 3-9569 \(p.103\)

3-5167

Hint for Marker M1 (p.248) contd.

Hint: Based on the hotel staff statements, is it possible a professional was hired to access the hotel room – maybe a locksmith or someone similar?

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

3-5394

Wannemaker and Son Rare Books

868 6th Ave, TL

Time: 60 minutes

If you have circled Document 2 in your case log, go to 1-7398 on p.47.

Otherwise, I have nothing to ask about.

3-5433

Department of Finance (6-5810 on p.165) contd.

I get an idea: As a long shot, I look up the property records for Gorski's apartment at the River House Apartments. Turns out Apartment 3c is a condominium and comes back as owned by a Reverend Carlo Lori. Tax filing address listed as a place in Rome, Italy.

 Circle Marker F2 in your case log.

Return to 6-5810 \(p.165\).

3-5830

Chief Medical Examiner (4-7384 on p.124) contd.

Time: 60 minutes

I loiter around the medical examiner's office trying to pick up on any gossip or rumors, but there's nothing.

3-6861

*Hall of Records
31 Chambers St, CC-36
Time: 60 minutes*

I look up the birth certificate for Walenty Gorski.

He was born in 1902, in Poland. That would make him 45 or so, sounds about right.

Only problem is, I also come across his death certificate, from 1944. Looks like he died in the war.

Circle Marker E2 in your case log.

3-7042

New York Public Library - Rare Manuscripts

476 5th Ave, Room 212, TL-6

Time: 60 minutes

If you have circled Document 2 in your case log, go to 2-2956 \(p.60\).

Otherwise, go to 5-1752 \(p.131\)

3-8027

Room 713 of the Cumberland Hotel

If it is day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 2-4314 \(p.69\)

Otherwise, if it is day 2 (Tue Mar 2), go to 1-8989 \(p.52\)

Otherwise, if it is day 3 (Wed Mar 3), go to 3-5027 \(p.95\)

3-9569

Cumberland Hotel, Day 3

- If you want to talk to the hotel staff, go to 1-1996 \(p.33\)

Otherwise, if you wish to call up to Room 713, go to 3-5027 \(p.95\)

4

4-1463

Cumberland Hotel Staff, Day 3 (1-1996 on p.33) contd.

Time: 60 minutes

Sometimes I've found that in these situations it's better to give someone an instruction, rather than ask a question and risk them getting cold feet.

"I need the room number of Mr. Choka Bahandari. It's an emergency," I tell the man at the reservation desk.

A few minutes later, he's found the information – Bahandari's in room 701. He checked in on Saturday and he's still in the hotel.

Circle Marker XI in your case log.

"Would you mind ringing up to room 713 for me?" I ask.

"Certainly, sir," says the man at the reservation desk. But there's no answer.

"She's not answering," he says.

"Do you know if she went out?"

He looks to his left at another clerk, who shakes her head, "No sir, I don't believe she did. Perhaps she's just in the bath?"

"Thank you."

- If you want to head upstairs anyway, go to 3-5027 \(p.95\)

4-1607

Epilogue (p.223) contd.

Jewel scrunches up her face and drops the bills on my desk.

“You realize there’s no one to pay these overtime bills, right? Mrs. Browning certainly isn’t going to pay them. You’re not on the force anymore, Jack, you have to be more careful about costs.”

I push around the bills on my table – looking for what, I don’t know. Return to Epilogue \(p.223\).

4-1852

Central City Taxi (2-3482 on p.64) contd.

I'm not sure what to ask the taxi company about, and as it turns out, they don't have any suggestions.

4-1915

Inside the Convent of the Sacred Heart

Time: 60 minutes

I think about heading to a callbox and calling it in, but my hand is on automatic and I'm testing the door knob before I know it. To my surprise, it turns easily and I gently open the door.

"Hello?" I say, half-heartedly.

Inside the side entrance to the Convent of the Sacred Heart is a scene of chaos. The room looks like some combination of a scullery, a kitchen, and a study area. There are sinks, pantry supplies, and large tables and benches.

But the whole place has been trashed. The doors of the cabinets that fill the walls are all flung open, their contents lying on the floor in heaps. Boxes of papers and supplies have been dumped everywhere. Either some hooligans were in here trying to wreck the place, or someone was in here looking for something they couldn't find. I'm betting on the latter. I notice some yellowed letterhead with the school watermark on it: "CSH".

I walk around downstairs and it's more of the same – every drawer and cabinet flung open and their contents dumped on the ground.

Eventually I come to a little office whose light is still on, and whose door appears to have been kicked in. Its hinges just barely cling on to a door frame that's been dislodged.

"Hello? Is anyone there? My name is Jack Deverell, I'm a Private Investigator. I'm armed." And with that I kneel down and retrieve the Smith & Wesson revolver in my ankle holster. It's my backup gun, but lately I've been walking around without my main sidearm.

I push on the office door and it slowly swings open. Then I'm hit with that familiar exotic smell.

On the small desk, face up and lying lengthwise, is who I'm betting is the man known to Mrs. Browning as Walenty Gorski. Not that she'd recognize his face anymore. It's all mashed up and bloody, like a raw steak. But he's short and balding, and he's got a round head. I look around for his wire-rim glasses and finally locate them on the floor, a mangled mess.

His shirt is torn and I can see the odd angles of broken ribs under the skin. His mouth and eyes are open, and there's a large pool of congealing blood under his head.

I go to check his pockets, but then notice they're all ripped open. Guess someone beat me to it. The desk drawers are all tossed like the others.

I spend a few more minutes surveying the scene to ensure I'm not overlooking anything, making sure there's no hidden cubby holes or lock boxes, and then finally retrace my steps out of the building – wiping down the door frames so I don't accidentally get myself mixed up in a murder investigation.

Circle Marker P1 in your case log.

4-2219

Hint for Marker L1 (p.247) contd.

Hint: The name of the delivery service was “Speedy” something.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

4-2483

Cumberland Hotel, Day 1 (2-6088 on p.77) - talk to hotel staff
Time: 60 minutes

The Cumberland Hotel is an elegant-looking square 12-story building on the corner of Broadway and 54th Street. I ask the front desk if I can speak to someone who was on duty this morning, and get directed to a middle-aged woman who's checking in an elderly couple.

When she finally hands them off to a bellhop, I ask her if she remembers Mrs. Browning. She does, and confirms she checked in on Saturday afternoon.

"And can you tell me if she checked in alone?" The woman consults a book briefly, and confirms that Mrs. Browning checked in alone on Saturday.

"Did you see her this morning?" I ask.

"I haven't seen her today, but I wasn't on duty early this morning. The staff member that was will be here all day tomorrow, you could ask him then. But I do remember she had several visitors yesterday. A short, balding gentleman, and an older, taller gentleman."

"One last question. I'm sure you're aware that Mrs. Browning had an expensive item stolen from her hotel room while she was out getting breakfast. Have you talked to the maids on duty? Is there any chance one of them lifted it and is too scared to admit it?"

"I don't see how," she says. "The maids hadn't even come in when she reported her items missing, and someone would have noticed if one of them had come in early."

"Anyone else who would have a key to the room?"

"Only the clerk on duty at the time – and me of course, but I certainly didn't enter her room."

"Thank you for your help. By the way, how's the restaurant here?"

"Best in the city." she says mechanically, with zero enthusiasm.

 Circle Marker B1 in your case log.

4-2607

Hint for Marker K1 (p.246) contd.

Hint: There are several neighborhoods of interest in your case, including Times Square, the Lower East Side, the Bowery, and Carnegie Mansion. Look for pawn shops in those areas.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

4-2821

Central Cab Coordinator

625 8th Ave, HK-70

Time: 60 minutes

We trek all the way to the NYC Central Cab Coordinator office, and then realize we don't really have anything to ask about – if we catch a lead involving a taxi we're probably going to have to stop by a local neighborhood cab company.

4-3737

New York Public Library - Culture & Religion
476 5th Ave, Room 225, TL-6
Time: 60 minutes

If you have circled Document 2 in your case log, go to 2-2956 \(p.60\).

Otherwise, go to 5-1752 \(p.131\)

4-4158

Day 2 Morning (p.18) - Evening Event for day 2

It's 7pm on Tuesday, March 2nd, 1948, and day #2 is ending.

The following 4 items must be found before you may move on:

- Marker C1
- Marker E1
- Marker F1
- Marker H1

Record +1 reputation in your case log for each of these items that you have already found, and an additional +4 reputation in your case log if you have already found all 4 items.

If you have not yet found all 4 items, resume searching for leads now until you have (using hints if needed), and consider yourself in “overtime” for the rest of the day; in overtime, time does not advance past 7pm.

As soon as you have found all 4 items, you must proceed to: Day 2 End-of-shift Briefing \(p.21\).

4-4892

E. 51st St. Church (8-8837 on p.204) - not day 2

Time: 60 minutes

The large alcove entrance to the church would be a good place to observe the apartment building across the street on Tuesdays when the guy normally comes to pick up the mail.

4-5063

Central Park - Engineer's Gate

CP-29

Time: 60 minutes

I can still see faint signs of the blood where the body must have lain, stretching out from a bench by the entrance to the park, like a dried river bed. I look around for anything that might have been left behind that the cops from the Carnegie District precinct may have missed.

Under the bench I spot a small note, and pick it up.

 Circle Document 6 in your case log. You have gained access to Document 6 (Note Found at Murder Scene), which can be found at the back of this case book on page 214.

4-5413

Epilogue (p.223) - Turn it in to police

Fearing I'll change my mind if I sleep on it, I pick up the book and head out to the local precinct. Thirty minutes later, it's done, and I'm walking home empty-handed. Jewel greets me at the door with the bottle of whiskey from the bookshelf, and two glasses. "Don't think about it," she says.

"It hurts," I say.

"I know, Jack, I know." And we both drink.

Circle Marker UI in your case log.

Return to Epilogue \(p.223\).

4-5591

Hint for Marker P1 (p.251) contd.

Hint: Use the reverse directory to identify the buildings he spent his time at.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

4-5594

Hint for Marker H1 (p.244) contd.

Hint: Find a good place from which to observe Gorski's apartment building; you may get ideas by visiting the building lobby.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

4-5627

Cumberland Hotel Lobby

Time: 60 minutes

“Would you mind ringing up to room 713 for me?” I ask.

“Certainly, sir,” says the man at the reservation desk. But there’s no answer.

“She’s not answering,” he says.

“Do you know if she went out?”

He looks to his left at another clerk, who shakes her head, “No sir, I don’t believe she did. Perhaps she’s just in the bath?”

“Thank you.”

- If you want to head upstairs anyway, go to 3-5027 \(p.95\)

4-6134

Cumberland Hotel Staff, Day 3 (1-1996 on p.33) contd.

Time: 60 minutes

I describe the big swarthy guy to the man at the desk, who does kind of remember someone like that checking in recently, but is otherwise pretty unhelpful.

“Do you have any idea how many rooms there are in this hotel?” he says. “If you have a name I can look them up, but short of that I’m afraid I can’t help you.”

“Would you mind ringing up to room 713 for me?” I ask.

“Certainly, sir,” says the man at the reservation desk. But there’s no answer.

“She’s not answering,” he says.

“Do you know if she went out?”

He looks to his left at another clerk, who shakes her head, “No sir, I don’t believe she did. Perhaps she’s just in the bath?”

“Thank you.”

- If you want to head upstairs anyway, go to 3-5027 \(p.95\)

4-6329

Hint for Document 4 (p.233) contd.

Hint: The local police Carnegie District police precinct may have more information about the murder.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

4-6599

Wyckoff's Rare Books (2-8549 on p.84) contd.

Time: 10 minutes

There's a sign on the door in red marker that says "Closed. Visiting family. Will be open on Tuesday."

4-7384

*Chief Medical Examiner
245 Greenwich St, CC
Time: 60 minutes*

If it is day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 3-5830 on p.99.

If it is day 2 (Tue Mar 2), go to 1-4670 on p.38.

Otherwise, go to 6-5241 on p.164.

4-7978

New York Public Library - Supernatural & Occult

476 5th Ave, Room 210, TL-6

Time: 60 minutes

If you have circled Document 2 in your case log, go to 2-2956 \(p.60\).

Otherwise, go to 5-1752 \(p.131\)

4-9164

Hint for Marker Z1 (p.254) contd.

Hint: Think about where the killer struck and how they may have left the scene of the crime.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

5

5-0470

Carnegie Mansion Taxicabs

1432 Lexington Ave, CM

Time: 60 minutes

If it is day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 1-8779 on p.50.

Otherwise, if it is day 2 (Tue Mar 2), go to 6-1692 on p.150.

Otherwise, if it is day 3 (Wed Mar 3), go to 2-6610 on p.78.

5-0693

Financial District Precinct (8-1410 on p.193) contd.

“Any thoughts on where I should be focusing at this point?”

“Well for sure you should retrace the steps of your victim on the morning of the theft if you haven’t done that already, and then you clearly need to try to follow up on this Gorski guy.”

Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log unless it's between noon-2pm.

5-1432

NYC Department of Parking Enforcement (7-2889 on p.179) contd.

I waste some time trying to think of a reason to go inside, and then leave.

5-1752

Library Consultation

Time: 60 minutes

I ask around if anyone is familiar with the Octavo King James Bible. One of the clerks comes back with some color brochures from a recent collection, including photos of the Bible that look similar to the photo Mrs. Browning gave me. I do a little research into the book. The King James Bible has been printed millions of times in many forms.

The Octavo King James Bible that Mrs. Browning owned seems like it might be worth up to several thousand dollars, given its apparent condition.

5-2297

*First Stop Pawnbrokers
309 Mott St, BO
Time: 60 minutes*

I check out the pawn shop carefully but there's no sign of the missing jewelry or anything even similar.

5-2683

Hint for Marker X1 (p.252) contd.

Hint: Where might he be staying?

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

5-3149

Time: 60 minutes

“Hey, it’s you again,” says the guy at the Citywide Parcels counter. “You know, you could save me a drive if you want to come pick up your own packages.”

“You dropped off a letter this morning. Same sender as yesterday? Short guy, balding, wire-rim glasses?”

“That’s the one. He seemed pretty rattled this morning – was waiting for me when I opened up, checking over his shoulder the whole time.”

“And he didn’t send any other packages or letters to anyone else?”

“Well, I couldn’t tell you if he did. But no, he didn’t.”

It takes me a minute to process that before I say goodbye and head out. I make a mental note to myself that if I come back here again, I’m going to have to bring this guy a box of chocolates.

Circle Marker L1 in your case log.

- Return to 2-0387 \(p.56\)

5-3699

Hint for Marker N1 (p.249) contd.

Hint: You are looking for a Polish guy named Gorski who lives in an apartment building; if in doubt visit all Gorskis in the directory until you find someplace suspicious.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

5-4089

Iyona's Real Estate at 63 Allen St.

Time: 60 minutes

Mrs. Iyona recalls the old guy with white hair who came into her real estate office earlier:

“Well.. He looked around a bit, confused, then asked me what kind of real estate I handle. I told him that I handle all kinds and asked him if he was looking to buy, sell, or rent. He said he’d rather sell his store to the devil than sell it to me. That’s a strange thing to say, don’t you think?”

“I do.”

“Are you interested in purchasing some real estate?” she asks.

“I wouldn’t mind a vacation home in Florida,” I say.

“I’m afraid I can’t help you with that” she says, and I head out.

Circle Marker C2 in your case log.

5-4321

Beth Israel Teaching Hospital (8-0109 on p.191) contd.

I ask about the subway attendant but I'm told he's still in surgery and they expect him to be under anesthesia until morning.

5-4329

*Gorski, Walenty - Apt. 3c
435 E. 52nd St, TB (apt. 3c)
Time: 60 minutes*

The door to apartment 3c is small and cheap, hollow core and painted white. I guess it's a bad habit that my mind is always figuring how hard it would be to break down a door. A small handwritten card taped to the door says "Gorski, Walenty".

I knock a few times and listen, but there's no sign of any activity.

There's a mail slot near the bottom of the door, so after I look around and see the hallway is clear, I go down on the balls of my feet and push open the slot and look in. Place looks pretty empty. A chair sitting in the hallway and an empty table. Nothing on the walls. Pretty suspicious when you think about it. I stand in front of the door for a minute considering my options... Can't really bust down the door on a hunch. I wonder if maybe a neighbor or doorman would know anything about the occupant.

Circle Marker NI in your case log.

5-6094

*Consulate of India
458 12th Ave, HK
Time: 60 minutes*

If you have not circled Marker Y1 in your case log, stop reading now, and return here after you have.

- otherwise -

Otherwise go to 1-5654 on p.44.

5-6096

Gorski, T.

4186 Broadway, WH

Time: 10 minutes

Apparently Gorski is a pretty popular name. Unfortunately after a brief talk with the resident I can see this isn't the Gorski I'm looking for. Still, knocking on doors is part of the job, and I'm bound to find him eventually.

5-6246

Larchmont Mid-Town Taxi Service (7-4777 on p.181) contd.

I'm not sure what to ask the taxi company about, and as it turns out, they don't have any suggestions.

5-6376

Larchmont Mid-Town Taxi Service (7-4777 on p.181) contd.

I'm not sure what to ask the taxi company about, and as it turns out, they don't have any suggestions.

5-6638

Hint for Marker Z1 (p.254) contd.

Hint: Check taxi cabs in the area.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

5-6719

Wyckoff's Rare Books (2-8549 on p.84) contd.

Time: 60 minutes

Wyckoff's Rare books is one of those New York bookstores that feels like it's out of a movie. It has a spooky feel, with antique light-bulbs and a maze of 10ft-high floor-to-ceiling bookshelves, all cramped into a footprint that can't be more than 20ft by 20ft.

I find the proprietor, an old white-haired gentleman, limping down one of the rows with a large blackened tome in his hand and searching for a place to put it. It looks heavy, but he doesn't seem to be having any trouble carrying it. He finally shelves it next to another large book – this one red, with what looks like a child's drawing of a skull on the cover.

"You must be Mr. Wyckoff," I say.

He looks me up and down as if sizing me up. "And who are you?" he says.

"I'm Jack Deverell, Mr. Wyckoff. I've been hired by a Mrs. Browning to help locate a lost book. I'm told you met with her on Sunday to appraise it. An old Bible."

"An old Bible! Ha! Is that how she described it? Heh... well, I guess it is an old Bible after all."

"What can you tell me about it? Was it authentic? How much was it worth?"

He gives me a long look which might be mistaken for disgust. "How much was it worth? Who are you? You're not the client. It's not your book. You don't know anything about it."

"I'm also looking for some jewelry, a pair of ruby earrings, a necklace, and a bracelet? They're missing from her hotel room – any chance you walked off with them accidentally?"

"You can fuck right off out of my store."

"Whoa," I say. "Take it easy there, we're working for the same lady."

"I'm not working for anybody – she hasn't paid me yet. She'll burn before I see a cent."

"What does that mean?"

"Fuck off, you don't know."

"Mr. Wyckoff, where were you Sunday morning around 8am?"

"Fucking your wife, you vermin."

"I'm not married."

At this point he calms himself down, then licks his finger and draws a large round circle in the air in front of my face. "Now you can really fuck off."

I can see this is going nowhere, so I thank Wyckoff for his hospitality and then leave.

Playing a hunch, I cross 3rd Avenue and enter a shop with a window facing Wyckoff's Rare Books. Wyckoff himself comes limping out of his bookstore and flips the sign on the door from Open to Closed, then heads south on 3rd Avenue.

He's walking pretty fast for a guy with a limp, but it's not like I'm going to lose him, so I take my time and let him get half a block away before lighting up a cigarette and starting to follow him.

He continues south where 3rd Avenue turns into the Bowery, then turns left on Houston, and then right on Chrystie. For a minute I panic when I think he's going to head into the train station on Delancey, and I close my distance. But he keeps going until he hits the entry to the garden park, then hangs a left and goes down Grand Street.

Then, something stupid happens. He gets almost to the corner of Allen Street, and as I'm reaching into my pocket to get another cigarette, the old guy suddenly turns around in a full circle and spots me looking right at him.

I'm caught off guard, and I hesitate before making a poor pretense at window shopping. But I can see from the corner of my eye that he's looking right at me.

Eventually he heads into a real estate office on Allen Street. Five minutes later he's headed back uptown the same way he came.

I convince myself that maybe he didn't recognize me after all, and waste another 30 minutes following him back up to the bookstore, where he turns the sign from Closed to Open and doesn't emerge again.

 Circle Marker J1 in your case log.

5-8382

*West 48th Street Pawn
25 W. 48th St, TS
Time: 60 minutes*

No sign of the missing jewelry and the proprietor seems offended with the idea that he would ever accept stolen items.

5-9516

17th Precinct (8-6591 on p.202) - after day 2

At the precinct house we're filled in on some details of the attack on the subway attendant, though there aren't many.

No witnesses, no apparent motive. He wasn't robbed, and the cash box was untouched. The victim is being treated at Beth Israel hospital and is in critical but stable condition, scheduled for surgery tonight. He hasn't made a statement yet, but may be well enough to talk by Wednesday afternoon.

6

6-0291

Contd. from 8-0109 on p.191

Time: 60 minutes

I sweet-talk the receptionist at the check-in desk into letting me go up to the room of Mr. Kornacki, the subway attendant who was attacked on Tuesday, by telling her I'm a friend of the victim. Eh. it's not too far off from the truth.

In his hospital room, Mr. Kornacki looks much improved from when I last saw him, and he grasps my hand weakly when he recognizes me. He seems to think I saved his life. I don't tell him he's wrong.

I have to lean in close to hear his short, whispered words, but he does his best to tell me what he remembers.

He was attacked by a large, swarthy man – at least 6ft tall. He doesn't remember what he was wearing, but definitely not a full suit. The man had tried to rush past him through the turnstile to the platform without paying, and the attendant had blocked his path. The fee went up to a dime last year, he added, and some people were very unhappy about it. Somehow I doubt that was the issue. Then, before Kornacki knew what had happened, he saw a flash of a blade and felt his shirt covered in blood.

I ask him if he recalls any strange smell, but he can't remember. The man ran past him and onto the uptown platform. "It's only a dime..." he finally says, shaking his head.

Circle Marker B2 in your case log.

6-1692

Carnegie Mansion Taxicabs (5-0470 on p.128) contd.

I'm not sure what to ask the taxi company about, and as it turns out, they don't have any suggestions.

6-1900

Stay and help the subway attendant

Time: 60 minutes

I pull out a cloth handkerchief and take off my tie, and try to tie it around the wound in the attendant's throat. He's in kind of a panic, and fights against me moving his hands, but eventually we get it on and his hands have something to press against. It's a pretty deep cut and he's lost a lot of blood already. I'm not sure he's going to make it.

"Can you stand up?" I ask him. But he's in shock and he's not walking anywhere on his own two feet.

I call out towards the steps – "Help! I need some help down here!" Then I put my arms around the guy's torso and lift him up. The motion jolts a fresh stream of blood out of his neck.

I carry him up the steep steps as quickly as I can, which is to say not quickly at all, blood dripping the whole way. When we get to the top, I walk him over to the curb and lay him down against the light pole. There's a crowd forming now, people gasping and holding their hands to their mouths, but no one actually doing anything to help.

I step into the street and hail a cab on Lexington – thankfully the street is filled with them. I lift the man into the cab, push him to the end of the seat and hand the cabbie a five dollar bill and tell him to take the guy to a hospital. He heads off south and I watch him go, still in shock. I probably should have gone with them, but I'm not thinking clearly.

Standing there staring down Lexington I try to calm my breathing and regain my wits. What just happened? I don't think I was spotted by my guy, but even if I was, why would he have attacked this attendant? Was this just a coincidence?

Circle Marker Q1 in your case log.

6-2087

Hint for Marker P1 (p.251) contd.

Hint: Use his parking ticket history to identify the buildings where he spent most of his time.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

6-2712

*Lumby, N. - Apt. 3b
435 E. 52nd St, TB (apt. 3b)
Time: 60 minutes*

The door to 3b is answered by an older gentleman with a receding hairline, wearing shorts and a tank top.

“I don’t want any,” he says.

“You haven’t even heard what I’m selling,” I say.

“What are you selling?”

“I’m actually not selling anything, I’m curious if you know anything about your neighbor, Gorski, in 3c?”

“Don’t know him. Never seen him. Pretty suspicious if you ask me. But then I work nights, so who knows. But I’ll tell you one thing, I have seen someone suspicious lately hanging outside of the building, by that church across the street. Just loitering and looking suspicious. I have half a mind to call a cop.”

Circle Marker 01 in your case log.

6-2864

Museum of Natural History 200 Central Park W., UW-65

Time: 60 minutes

If it is before day 2 (Tue Mar 2), there's nothing that catches my interest in the museum today so I leave.

If it is after day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 7-7507 on p.186.

6-2867

NYC Department of Parking Enforcement (7-2889 on p.179) contd.

I take a number and a seat. 30 minutes later I hear my number called, and finally I'm under window 15 talking to a heavily-perfumed middle-aged woman. I make the mistake of telling her that I'm a PI looking for information on Constantine Afanasyev. Sometimes I forget I'm no longer a cop. She tells me she can't give me any information on him without a warrant. Rookie mistake.

I make a U-turn, head back into the DMV and take a number. Another 30 minutes later and I'm at window 7, in front of a cute blond in curls who's chewing bubble-gum.

"Hello," I say, in my best Russian accent, taking off my hat. "My name Constantine Afanasyev." I have a hard time with the last name, but Bubble-Gum doesn't seem to think that's strange. I push over the document I found at Constantine's apartment. "I would like to pay fee."

Bubble-Gum girl looks over the letter, then at me, then back at the letter, then responds as if talking to a small child.

"It looks like your car has been impounded for failure to pay your tickets."

"I will pay," I say. "Where was car?"

"One moment, wait here, please." She heads back into the open-air labyrinth behind her, and returns with a piece of paper.

"These are your most recent tickets," she says, handing me a machine printout. "Everything from this year before the car was impounded. We don't have details for the previous years. You owe $130.32. You can pay now by check or cash."

"I will come back," I say, pocketing the printout.

Circle Document 5 in your case log. You have gained access to Document 5 (DMV Parking Ticket Printout), which can be found at the back of this case book on page 213.

6-3076

9th Precinct

321 E. 5th St, EV

Time: 60 minutes

I ask the sergeant at the front desk for any rumors regarding people related to my case, but he's got nothing.

6-3528

Gorski, I.
400 E. 88th St, YV
Time: 10 minutes

Apparently Gorski is a pretty popular name. Unfortunately after a brief talk with the resident I can see this isn't the Gorski I'm looking for. Still, knocking on doors is part of the job, and I'm bound to find him eventually.

6-4116

Chua's Pawn
38 James St, CT
Time: 60 minutes

It's mostly ancient Chinese statues and strange board games – nothing related to my case.

6-4294

I Don't Feel Right About It

"I'm afraid I'm not going to be able to recover your book, Mrs. Browning. It's obvious that something shady is going on here, and I don't want to end up an accessory in... whatever it is. Jewel will help you settle up your account."

Mrs. Browning seems to freeze in place – staring at me open-mouthed. After a while she catches herself and opens up her purse to get out a cigarette. She makes me wait while she takes her time retrieving a lighter and lighting it, then takes a deep breath.

"I don't suppose I could convince you to change your mind? Perhaps if I doubled your fee?"

"I'm afraid not, Mrs. Browning. It's not really a matter of money... more a matter of dead bodies."

"Pfft... Dead bodies... The world is filled with dead bodies, Mr. Deverell." She takes another drag. "Once they're dead, they don't matter much, do they?"

"Umm... I'm not sure I follow."

Mrs. Browning waves off the idea with a hand gesture, and puts out her cigarette in the ashtray on my desk. "You know where it is, though, don't you? The book?"

"Yes, ma'am, I believe I do."

"And did you... Well, have you looked inside it?"

"No, Mrs. Browning, I haven't actually had the chance."

"Well then, I guess our business is concluded." She brushes off her jacket. "Of course I won't be paying your bill – that goes without saying."

"You did say it," pipes up Jewel from the corner.

"I will, however, be suing your office for breach of contract. You can expect to get a letter from my solicitor in the morning."

"Of course," I say. "Jewel will show you out."

"I'll show myself out," she says, and walks right past her. I stand with Jewel at the door as we watch Mrs. Browning join a large gentleman in the back of a waiting cab.

"That fucking bitch," I say under my breath.

"Jack, language," says Jewel, not looking at me.

"That fucking dame..." I mutter.

Circle Marker Q1 in your case log.

Time advances 60 minutes.

- Return to Epilogue \(p.223\)

6-4818

Hint for Marker O1 (p.250) contd.

Hint: Find Gorski's apartment, then use the reverse directory to identify the neighbors on his floor, and visit them.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

6-5023

Beth Israel Teaching Hospital (8-0109 on p.191) contd.

I sweet-talk the receptionist at the check-in desk into letting me go up to the room of the subway attendant who was attacked on Tuesday, by telling her I'm a friend of the victim. I try not to remember how I left him to bleed out in the station.

In his hospital room, Mr. Kornacki looks grave. He seems to think I saved his life. I don't tell him he's wrong.

He's wheezing and struggling to talk, and I'm not sure I should even let him try. But I lean in to hear what he has to say.

"It's only a dime..." he says, shaking his head, "All this over a dime?"

"Just get some rest." I say. "You'll be OK."

Then I head back to the office for a drink and hope I'm right.

Circle Marker B2 in your case log.

6-5191

Carnegie Delicatessen
854 7th Ave, TS-26
Time: 60 minutes

The famous Carnegie Jewish Delicatessen, known for its giant sandwiches, is hopping. I know the owner, Milton, and I shoulder my way through to him.

“How’s the pastrami, Milton?”

“Wait here,” he says, and disappears behind the counter to bring up a slice from some private reserve. “This is the good stuff,” he says. “You want I should make you a sandwich?”

“Actually, I’m hoping for some information.”

“Oh?” he says, putting down the pastrami absentmindedly.

“Can you remember a woman who may have come in Monday morning around 8am? She’d have been alone, dressed nicely in a black outfit.”

“Turkey on whitebread, and Roast Beef on thick-cut rye.”

“Two sandwiches, you sure about that?”

“Two sandwiches. She ate the one small one at a table over there, and took the other with her to go. And there’s something else.”

“Oh yeah?”

“Yeah. I think there was someone watching her. Older guy with white hair. He was watching her through the window, and I even went outside to ask him if there was something I could help him with. He wasn’t mean or anything, he had a big smile, and he just said ‘no’ and crossed the street. But then he kept watching the building until she left.”

“Thanks, Milton, you’re the best.”

“What about that pastrami, you want me to slice you half a pound?”

“Not today, Milton. I’ve got places to go.”

Tick 1 culture box in your case log.

 Circle Marker G1 in your case log.

6-5241

Chief Medical Examiner (4-7384 on p.124) contd.

When I was a hotshot NYPD detective I'd have just waltzed into 255 Greenwich Street and headed downstairs to meet with Tomas Gonzales, the chief medical examiner for New York City, to look at the body and hear a preliminary autopsy report from the man himself. As a PI, though, the best I can do is try to sweet talk the gal at the front desk – Mary, who knows me from my days on the force.

“How are you doing, Mary? Long time no see.”

“Jack, it's good to see you landed on your feet. That wasn't right what happened to you.”

“Water under the bridge,” I say. Not quite true, but maybe if I say it enough I'll believe it myself one day. “Mary, can you give me something on that murder in Central Park? I'm working a case that the victim was involved in.”

She looks around a little before drawing me closer. “I don't know much, they're still working it. But, I know the guy was stabbed a bunch of times in the back. Lots of blood, they think he died quickly. But also, it seems like the killer did something weird. Carved some kind of symbol in his back after he killed him. That's all I know.”

“Thanks, Mary, I owe you one.”

Circle Marker H2 in your case log.

6-5810

Department of Finance

52 Centre St, CC-20

Time: 60 minutes

I look up property records for Gorski but find nothing.

If you have circled Marker NI in your case log, go to 3-5433 on p.98, and then return here.

If you have circled Marker PI in your case log, go to 3-0407 on p.88, and then return here.

6-6857

Central City Taxi (2-3482 on p.64) contd.

I talk to the cabbies about the guy who was stabbed in the subway and I'm told that he was taken to Beth Israel hospital in the Gashouse district.

6-7209

Cumberland Hotel, Day 2 (1-8423 on p.48) - talk to hotel staff

Time: 60 minutes

I get to the front desk of the Cumberland hoping to find the guy who was working early morning yesterday.

“I’m looking for someone who was on duty early yesterday morning, would that be you?”

“Yes sir.”

“Could you tell me if Mrs. Browning left her room yesterday morning?”

“Yes, she came down from her room around 7:30 am, dressed in all black, and asked where she could get a sandwich. I told her that the hotel restaurant might be able to make her one at 8am, but she seemed in a hurry so I suggested a deli on 7th Avenue. I’m not sure where she went, but she was back by 8am or 8:30am.”

“And she was alone when she left? And when she came back as well?”

“I believe so. I don’t remember seeing anyone with her.”

“And no one came by asking for her while she was out?”

“I don’t believe so.”

“Well you were the only one on duty, right? You would know if someone came by looking for her, yeah?”

“Yes, sir - Until 9am I was the only one on duty and couldn’t leave my station unattended; so if anyone came by before then, I would have known about it.”

“Very good. Can you tell me if Mrs. Browning is in her room now?” I ask.

“I believe she is, sir.”

“And has she had any visitors today?”

“She has not.”

“And no one has called for her?”

“No, sir.”

I thank him for his help, and am just turning to leave when a thought seems to occur to him.

“Umm... Actually, you know, now that I think about it... There was something a little unusual that happened just before 8. A man in overalls came in and walked right past me to the elevators. I normally would have stopped him, because he didn’t look like a guest, and it seemed a little early for maintenance work, but he seemed to know where he was going so I didn’t think much of it.”

“Could he have been going to Mrs. Browning’s room?”

“Well, I don’t think so. He’d be going the long way around if he was.”

“Can you remember what this fellow looked like?”

“Let’s see... Blue overalls and work boots. Brown hair, slicked back. Maybe in his 20s? He may have had glasses... I’m sorry, I can’t remember.”

I pass him my card. “If you think of anything else, give me a ring.”

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

 Circle Marker FI in your case log.

- Return to 1-8423 \(p.48\)

6-7401

New York Public Library
476 5th Ave, TL-6

The New York Library is a virtual warehouse of information. Please see your updated Research Guide / Errata for an updated directory of individual departments.

- Ancestry Records #2-4500
- Circulation Desk #4-2384
- City History #1-8347
- Culture & Religion #4-3737
- Fiction #1-6610
- General Reference #2-4982
- Maps #8-5503
- Periodicals #6-4164
- Rare Manuscripts #3-7042
- Science #4-7981
- Supernatural & Occult #4-7978
- World History #2-4059

6-7764

NYC Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) (1-8786 on p.51) contd.

I waste some time in front of the DMV trying to think of a reason to go inside, and then leave.

6-7827

*Rockefeller Institute Hospital
York Ave at 66th St, LH-56
Time: 60 minutes*

I ask around Bellevue hospital but there doesn't seem to be anything here for me.

6-8051

*Carnegie Mansion
2 E. 91st St, CM-21
Time: 60 minutes*

I walk around the perimeter of the Carnegie Mansion, taking in the beautiful landscaping and intimidating brickwork of the main house. Eventually I catch the eye of a groundskeeper and beckon him over to talk. He says the family have been out of town for the last two weeks, and it's just been the groundskeepers on the property since then.

6-9195

*A1 Carriage and Cab
Back Alley of 55 John Street
Time: 60 minutes*

The A1 cab company dispatcher has no information to help our case.

6-9443

NYC Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) (1-8786 on p.51) contd.

Time: 60 minutes

After a grueling wait, the DMV desk tells me that Constantine's car was impounded last week for failure to pay parking tickets. But they don't handle parking tickets at this office, so there's nothing more he can tell me.

6-9849

Introduction (p.12) - Evening Event for day 1

It's 8pm on Monday, March 1st, 1948, and day #1 is ending.

The following 5 items must be found before you may move on:

- Marker A1
- Marker B1
- Marker D1
- Marker N1
- Marker O1

Record +1 reputation in your case log for each of these items that you have already found, and an additional +5 reputation in your case log if you have already found all 5 items.

If you have not yet found all 5 items, resume searching for leads now until you have (using hints if needed), and consider yourself in “overtime” for the rest of the day; in overtime, time does not advance past 8pm.

As soon as you have found all 5 items, you must proceed to: Day 1 End-of-shift Briefing \(p.16\).

7

7-1427

*Bellevue Hospital
462 1st Ave, GD-5
Time: 60 minutes*

I ask around Bellevue hospital but there doesn't seem to be anything here for me.

7-1778

Turtle Bay Elementary
345 Park Ave, TB

Something tells me my guy doesn't belong in an elementary school, and anyway the place looks locked down. There's a nun sitting with her back to the door – no one's getting in and out without her moving.

7-2889

NYC Department of Parking Enforcement
50 Centre St, CC-30
Time: 60 minutes

- If you have not circled Document 4 in your case log, go to 5-1432 on p.130.

Otherwise, go to 6-2867 on p.155.

7-4030

Afanasyev, Constantine

332 E. 11th St, EV

Time: 60 minutes

The building at 332 E. 11th Street is just one of many row houses here, stretching nearly the entire block, all painted a peeling white. There's a round buzzer mounted on a square of wood to the right of the door; a label below it bears the name "Afanasyev", with two small hand-drawn crucifixes on either side. I ring the doorbell but get no answer.

I think long and hard about breaking the door in, but it looks solid.

Then I notice the edge of an envelope just peeking out from under the door frame. I open my pocket knife and use it to pull the letter out.

Circle Document 4 in your case log. You have gained access to Document 4 (Letter Found at Afanasyev Residence), which can be found at the back of this case book on page 212.

7-4777

Larchmont Mid-Town Taxi Service

145 W. 43rd St, TS-88

Time: 60 minutes

If it is day 1 (Mon Mar 1), go to 1-0108 on p.29.

Otherwise, if it is day 2 (Tue Mar 2), go to 5-6246 on p.141.

Otherwise, if it is day 3 (Wed Mar 3), go to 5-6376 on p.142.

7-4818

Hint for Marker M1 (p.248) contd.

Hint: Focus your attention in the Carnegie Mansion neighborhood, where the packages are coming from.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

7-6051

*Central Park Precinct
85th St Transverse, CP
Time: 60 minutes*

The central park precinct isn't much of a precinct at all, and looks like it's mostly for show. A place for tourists to stop in and file reports on park pickpockets or con artists. I guess if I'm interested in a crime that occurred on the outskirts of the park It's going to be handled by the closest neighborhood precinct next to the park.

7-6204

Hint for Document 5 (p.234) contd.

Hint: The DMV is not always the most helpful place, but they may suggest someplace else you could go for more information.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

7-6591

Wyckoff, Talmadge
229 E. 11th St, EV
Time: 60 minutes

The front door at 229 E. 11th Street is painted blood-red, with an ornate brass knocker shaped like the skull of an animal in the center. Below it is a four-inch-tall uppercase “W” hand-painted in black calligraphy.

I knock and no one answers. I can’t say I’m not a little relieved.

7-7507

Museum of Natural History (6-2864 on p.154) - after day 2

The Exhibition of Controversial books is not open to the public yet.

7-7572

Carnegie District Precinct

82nd St & 3rd Ave, CM

Time: 60 minutes

If it is before day 3 (Wed Mar 3), advance time 1 hour, then leave.

Otherwise, go to 1-1111 on p.31.

7-9323

Adamski, B. - Apt. 3a
435 E. 52nd St, TB (apt. 3a)
Time: 60 minutes

No one answers the door to Apartment 3a.

7-9386

*Lori, Carlo
757 3rd Ave, TB
Time: 60 minutes*

No one answers the door at the duplex on 757 3rd Avenue. But I see a little old lady hanging out of the balcony next door.

“Would you happen to know Father Lori?” I ask.

“Aye. He lives in that apartment there but he’s not been home in a week. Whatcha be wanting him for?”

“Could you tell me what he looks like?”

“Whatcha be wanting him for, I said.”

“I’m with the church,” I say, as if that should be good enough.

“That don’t mean nothin’ to me!”

I don’t really have time for this.

“Dear God,” I exclaim, “You know this man’s mother is on her deathbed. I need to find Father Lori right away! Are you going to help me or not?”

“Oh. Well, why didn’t you say so? He’s a short fella, about this high,” and she holds her hand in the air out of her 2nd-story window. “He’s bald, and he wears glasses.”

“Thank you for your cooperation” I say.

“Will his mother be alright?” she asks.

“I certainly hope so,” I say as I head off.

Circle Marker G2 in your case log.

8

8-0109

Beth Israel Teaching Hospital

281 1st Ave, GD-37

Time: 60 minutes

If you have not circled Marker C1 in your case log, go to 2-8111 on p.81.

If it is before day 3 (Wed Mar 3), go to 5-4321 on p.137.

Otherwise, if you have circled Marker Q1 in your case log, go to 6-0291 \(p.149\)

Otherwise, if you have circled Marker R1 in your case log, go to 6-5023 on p.161.

8-0681

Day 1 End-of-shift Briefing (p.16) contd.

Tick 2 culture boxes in your case log.

With a little spare time on my hands, I head down to the Hippodrome in Times Square and catch a late night showing of Out of the Past. I'm on my own as Jewel has got other plans. Robert Mitchum's pretty damn good, though I'll take Bogey every time. Then there's Jane Greer... Now why don't I get clients like that. Half way through the movie though, my thoughts keep returning to my case.

Return to Day 1 End-of-shift Briefing \(p.16\).

8-1410

Financial District Precinct
39 Broad St, FD
Time: 60 minutes

I make my way up the steps at Nassau & Liberty to my old home precinct to ask my old chief if he has any advice for me.

It's clearly going to affect my reputation if I ask for help, but maybe that's a price I'm willing to pay... Or I could just leave and try to figure things out myself.

If it is day 1 (Mon Mar 1): Go to 2-5991 on p.76.

If it is day 2 (Tue Mar 2): Go to 5-0693 on p.129.

If it is day 3 (Wed Mar 3): Go to 2-0812 on p.57.

Otherwise, if it's late night on day 3 and you want assistance answering the questions at the conclusion of your case, go to 2-4932 on p.72.

8-1631

W.M. Muller

242 6th Ave, GV-108

Time: 60 minutes

The storefront window in front of 262 Sixth avenue holds displaycase after displaycase of round marbles in all colors, each one with a dark spot in the center – a bit like eyes. Takes me a moment to process what I’m looking at, then I see the sign that says “ARTIFICIAL HUMAN EYES”.

A handwritten card on the inside of the window says “Try our new antacid, it’s good for your vision!”

I head in and purchase a tiny bottle for a nickel from the guy behind the counter. It doesn’t have a label; it’s just a clear glass bottle with a stopper. It tastes like chalk. I try to keep my face from frowning, but it doesn’t work.

“What’s the deal with the antacid?” I ask.

“Not much demand for artificial eyes,” he says.

“How’s the demand for antacid?” I ask.

“Eh.” he says, shrugging his shoulders.

I take another swig and leave the empty bottle on the counter as I head out.

Tick 1 culture box in your case log.

8-2147

*Subway (IRT) at Lexington and 86th
Lexington Ave & 86th St, CM
Time: 60 minutes*

I pace the platform at the 86th Street IRT station, but don't notice anything interesting.

8-3872

Subway (IRT) at Lexington and 51st Lexington Ave & 51st St, TB

Circle Marker C1 in your case log.

I almost walk right past the stairs down to the IRT station at Lexington and 51st, but I can see it's where my guy must have gone. Damn it. He's got a couple of minutes on me now, and I can hear a train in the station. If I'm lucky the train is pulling in. If I'm unlucky... Well, I guess there's next week.

I hurry down the steps into the subway, and I can see the uptown train is just pulling into the station. Lucky. If I hurry I can just make it.

I reach into my pocket for a dime and look around for the attendant. I don't see him. I'm just thinking about jumping the turnstile when I catch something out of the corner of my eye.

Off to the side of the station, there's a guy sitting on the ground with his hands around his throat. The first thing that comes to my mind is that it's my guy, but it's not – it's the attendant. And there's blood leaking out between his fingers and quietly pooling onto his pants.

I look at the man, then back over my shoulder where I can see the train just coming to a stop.

You have 60 seconds to choose ONE of the following options:

- 1. Stay to help the attendant - go to 6-1900 \(p.151\)
- 1. Or jump the turnstile and get onto the train - go to 2-4231 \(p.66\)

8-4237

Convent of the Sacred Heart (2-7768 on p.80) contd.

The Convent of the Sacred Heart is a beautiful old building, originally built in 1914 as the residence of Otto H. Kahn, a German financier. It's currently a Roman Catholic girls' school. At least that's the idea, though it seems like it's been closed for repairs or reorganization for the last year or so.

I notice that while the main front entrance looks like it hasn't been used in a while, there's a side entrance that looks like it gets regular use. The side door is surrounded by large white granite blocks, and looks to be made of steel, with no less than 3 locks on the door. I know the church is concerned about chastity, but this seems a little excessive. There's a small metal plate near the top lock with the initials "PSC" stamped on it.

I listen quietly for any sounds behind the door, but don't hear anything. I knock lightly. No answer. I reach for the doorknob and that's when I see it: a small smear of blood. Then I spot another near the edge of the door, and a few more drops on the ground outside.

CHOOSE ONE OF THE FOLLOWING:

- Force open the door and enter: Go to 4-1915 \(p.108\)
- Leave and come back later

8-4472

17th Precinct (8-6591 on p.202) contd.

We ask around the 17th Precinct for any scuttlebut on the neighborhood. We're told it's a quiet place with very little crime.

8-5827

Day 2 End-of-shift Briefing (p.21) - Late Night at the Natural History Museum

Probably it's the connection to our case, but I find myself genuinely curious about the exhibit of controversial religious books. Jewel and I hop the train to 79th Street on the Upper West Side.

The midnight gala event at the museum is a pretty ritzy affair. I'm not sure how Jewel managed to get us tickets at the last minute, but she's resourceful like that. As we're walking up the steps we see mayor Fiorello La Guardia, already inside shaking hands with someone, his pudgy face and rotund body exuding unmistakable charm.

The Museum of Natural History is one of my favorite places. It never ceases to put me in a contemplative mood. Dozens of dimly-lit rooms, with giant life-sized dioramas of cavemen and dinosaurs, pottery and tablets from the beginning of civilization, and sparkling gemstones the size of your head.

Jewel seems just as interested as I am, and we leisurely walk to the religious book exhibit, separated by only a few feet of space but a million years of daydreaming.

The controversial book exhibit itself is mildly interesting. I'm half-expecting to see a copy of Mrs. Browning's book on display, but no dice. There's a big section discussing religious books from different cultures, and how each one was treated as blasphemous and sacrilegious by others, despite their common themes. And there's a section of shockingly vibrant paintings of Hindu gods that defy description. I make a note to myself to dig out my oil paints when I get home.

There is a section on controversial Christian Bibles, but they seem to be mostly about misprinted editions. The "Wicked" Bible, otherwise known as the "Sinner's Bible", was published in 1631 in London, where they accidentally left out the word "not" from the sentence "Thou shalt not commit adultery." Ouch. Most copies were destroyed, making it highly valuable. But there's no hint of any controversy related to Mrs. Browning's book.

"Pretty fascinating stuff, huh, Jewel?"

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

Jewel doesn't hear me; she's lost in thought. We wander around a bit more in silence, then part ways and head to our respective homes.

Tick 3 culture boxes in your case log.

Circle Marker W1 in your case log.

Return to Day 2 End-of-shift Briefing \(p.21\).

8-6264

Lehigh Safe & Lock Company

59 E. 54th St, TS

Time: 60 minutes

Mr. Lehigh does not seem like a particularly talkative fellow. I dance around the topic of opening up hotel door locks, and he assures me that it would be easy to do, but he's not getting involved in anything illegal. Only a hotel manager could authorize it.

8-6591

17th Precinct

51st St & 2nd Ave, TB

Time: 60 minutes

If it is before day 3 (Wed Mar 3), go to 8-4472 on p.198.

Otherwise, go to 5-9516 on p.147.

8-8408

River House Apartments (1-4441 on p.37) contd.

I take in the scene around the apartment building. Sure enough, I can see the East River only a couple dozen feet away – a rare case of truth in advertising. Of course, why you'd want to live near the East River is another question.

Not much traffic around here and it's all pretty exposed, except that across the street to the south I see a large dark alcove that looks like it's a side entrance to the church. Might make a good place for a stakeout.

8-8837

E. 51st St. Church

If it is day 2 (Tue Mar 2), go to 2-3501 on p.65.

Otherwise, go to 4-4892 on p.115.

8-9427

Lewkowitz Jewelry

Time: 60 minutes

I browse the counters of Lewkowitz Jewelers but find nothing that catches my eye. The little old lady who works there seems to have quickly sussed out that I'm not the buying type, and doesn't even bother to look up from reading her paper.

8-9604

Hint for Marker G1 (p.243) contd.

Hint: Her statement and the hotel staff should give you a general idea of where she must have eaten. Use the directory to search for a place around there. She only got sandwiches so it's probably not a restaurant.

If this hadn't already occurred to you, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

8-9798

Gorski, U.

226 W. 21st St, CS

*Time: 10 minutes

Apparently Gorski is a pretty popular name. Unfortunately after a brief talk with the resident I can see this isn't the Gorski I'm looking for. Still, knocking on doors is part of the job, and I'm bound to find him eventually.

DOCUMENTS

STOP!

Do not access the documents section unless directed to retrieve a specific document.

Document 1

Photo of Mrs. Browning's Book, from Introduction (p.12)

Photograph of the Octavo King James Bible that Mrs. Browning shows us.

Document 2

Note with Hat Box, from Day 2 Morning \(p.18\)

Note found inside hat box parcel holding the book that was sent to our office for Mrs. Browning on Tuesday:

God forgives the sinner with a flawed heart, but not the sinner who communes with evil. We are returning the word of God, if you will have it. Repent and be rewarded.

Document 3

Letter from Mystery Sender, from Day 3 Morning (p.23)

Letter delivered to our office on Wednesday:

Dear Detective,

You may not yet understand, but you will. My calling is righteous and only GOD can judge my trespasses and deceptions. The book you seek is evil, but it is Safe now, protected by the angels. You must stop searching for it. Wicked are the words, and wicked is the witch who wields it. She must not be allowed to regain it. It is Safe now. Even if she and her devils find me and put me to the rack, it is Safe now. And if I should fall, you must deliver it, not to the witch but to my master. He will know what to do.

Document 4

Letter Found at Afanasyev Residence, from 7-4030 (p.180)

Letter found at Constantine Afanasyev's residence

Feb 27, 1948

Car Registration: "6K 45 47"

Model: 1935 Hudson, 2-door

Registered owner: Constantine Afanasyev

Towed from: 331 East 11th st., curbside

NOTICE: This letter is to inform you that your car has been impounded by the New York City Parking Enforcement Office. You may reclaim your car by paying your overdue fines before February 1st, 1949. If your car is unclaimed at that date, it will be auctioned off to the highest bidder, with all proceeds going to the City of New York.

Document 5

DMV Parking Ticket Printout, from 6-2867 (p.155)

Parking Ticket Summary

Car Registration: "6K 45 47"

Model: 1935 Hudson, 2-door

Registered owner: Constantine Afanasyev

Recent Parking Violations are as follows:

Jan 05 - 6 East 91st St.

Jan 17 - 4 East 91st St.

Jan 25 - 333 East 11th St.

Jan 30 - 4 East 91st St.

Feb 14 - 5 East 91st St.

Feb 19 - 4 East 91st St.

Feb 25 - 331 East 11th St. [CAR IMPOUNDED]

Document 6

Note Found at Murder Scene, from 4-5063 (p.116)

Note found at Engineer's Gate off Central Park

Front:

Tuesday mail pickup: Gorski, Walenty - 435 E. 52nd St (apt.3c)

Back:

God protect you from the devils and their helpers -- keep eyes in the back of your head. They still hunt for the desecrated thing.

Document 7

Sketch of Mrs. Browning, from Day 3 Morning (p.23)

Jack's sketch of Mrs. Browning.

END

STOP!

Do not turn the page until you are ready to begin wrapping up your case.

Conclusion

10 pm Wednesday, March 3rd, 1948

When I get into the office, Jewel is sitting cross-legged on her desk eating Chinese take-out food, cold sesame noodles and dumplings.

“Jack, I think it’s time to wrap this case up. Mrs. Browning just called and she’s furious that you haven’t found the book yet. She said she’s coming in bright and early tomorrow morning and you better have something for her. You know what you’re going to tell her?”

I pick up a dumpling with my chopsticks and dip it into the soy sauce, enjoying the salty ocean taste. “I’m not sure...”

STOP!

Proceed only when you are ready to answer questions.

Questions

Read and answer the following questions. You may re-reread any previously visited leads to refresh your memory but you may not visit new leads at this point.

Q1. Why was the book stolen in the first place, by whom, and how did they get their hands on it?

Q2. If someone did break into Mrs. Browning's hotel room, how did they do it and how did they know when it would be safe to do so? If it was an inside job, then who was the inside person? Or was the book never actually stolen?

Q3. Who has it now? Where is it? How do you know? If we assume Mrs. Browning's Book will never be recovered, and no one will ever confess, how might you go about proving who removed it from the hotel room?

Q4. What about the train station attack and the murder near the park. The cops are breathing down my neck, wanting to know what our case has to do with them. How do the knife attacks relate to the case we're investigating? Can you provide the police with the killer's full name and current location?

Q5. What about the theft of Mrs. Browning's jewelry? Do we know who took it, and why, and where it is? And most importantly, what's your evidence?

Secondary Questions:

Q6. Who is Gorski? What's his role in all this? Is he working alone, and if not, who else is involved?

Q7. And what about the book that was delivered on Tuesday – Mrs. Browning doesn't seem to want it. Is it real?

- a) It's fake and not worth anything
- b) It's real and worth a fortune

! You must now answer the questions above. After you answer them, you may, for the last time, resume searching for new leads in an attempt to improve your answers. If you wish to do so, consider yourself to be in overtime on day 3 (Wednesday).

After you have finished searching for new leads for the last time, return here to revise any of your answers to the questions above. However, for every answer you change, you will score the average score of your original and revised answer.

NOTE: If you'd like some additional help and assistance thinking through the questions, you may choose to make a trip to your old police precinct in the Financial District for some last minute advice, though it will cost you some demerits. If you wish to do so, go to 8-1410 \(p.193\).

Proceed to the epilogue on the next page only when you have recorded your final answers to the above questions.

Tip for completionists: The following optional markers are discoverable: Marker D2, Marker XI, Marker Y1, and Marker Z1.

STOP!

Once you have answered all questions on the previous page(s) you may continue to the next page.

Epilogue

Read and resolve each section of the epilogue below in turn.

DIARY - Thursday, March 5th, 1948

Mrs. Browning turns up at the office Thursday morning, demanding a progress report on her case. Jewel shows her in and lingers by the door to hear what I'll say.

"Where is my book, Mr. Deverell? Have you located it yet? What's taking so long?" she says, speaking the way only women born into privilege or good looks can.

"It's a little complicated," I say, taking a deep breath and standing up.

CHOOSE ONE OF THE FOLLOWING:

- a) "I know where your book is, and I suppose a contract is a contract. As no one has disputed that the book belongs to you, I'm going to tell you where it is. But I'm not happy about it." go to 3-1627 \(p.91\), and then return back here.
- or b) "I'm afraid I'm not going to be able to recover your book, Mrs. Browning. It's obvious that something shady is going on here, and I don't want to end up an accessory in... whatever it is. Jewel will help you settle up your account." go to 6-4294 \(p.159\), and then return back here.

NEW YORK TIMES - Monday, March 9th, 1948

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan has today announced the arrest of Choka Bahandari, an Indian national, for last week's violent murder of Constantine Afanasyev, and the arrest of Mrs. Clarice Browning of Salem, Massachusetts as an accessory after the fact. The charging documents describe how Mr. Bahandari attacked Mr. Afanasyev outside of Central Park after following him from his place of work, the Convent of the Sacred Heart. Early reporting suggests that Mr. Bahandari was operating at the behest of Mrs. Browning, whose background and occupation remain unconfirmed.

NEW YORK TIMES - Wednesday, March 12th, 1948

New developments emerged today in the case of last week's Central Park stabbing of Constantine Afanasyev. Rumors continue to circulate about the two suspects who have been charged with the murder, Mr. Choka Bahandari and Mrs. Clarice Browning. Reliable sources have told the Times that the two are well known in Salem, and are rumored to be members of an underground religious organization long banned in the state of Massachusetts. Mrs. Browning's family allegedly has long-standing ties to occult and satanic churches in the state, dating back several generations.

DIARY - Friday, March 20th, 1948

It's been two weeks since the case of the Missing Book, and Jewel taps on the glass pane of my office door as she opens it and walks in. I can see she's got a stack of bills in her hand, and we're about to do the weekly ritual of going over company finances.

"How do we look, Jewel?"

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

- If you have gone into overtime on no more than one day, go to 3-4440 on p.93, and then return here.

Otherwise, if you have gone into overtime on two days, go to 1-4797 on p.39, and then return here.

Otherwise, if you have gone into overtime on all three days, go to 4-1607 on p.106, and then return here.

NEW YORK TIMES - Monday, March 30th, 1948

A date has been set in the murder trial of Clarice Browning and Choka Bahandari, who stand accused of the ritualistic stabbing murder of a worker from the Convent of the Sacred Heart. The suspects had not released any statement to the press at the time of going to print. The trial is set to begin on May 3rd. In a shocking twist, the district attorney has revealed that the two are being charged with an additional murder.

DIARY - Saturday, April 3rd, 1948

It's been a month since the case of the Missing Book, and I've been sitting here for the last 30 minutes, staring at the pristine edition of the Octavo King James Bible sent over by the folks who stole Mrs. Browning's copy. It's worth thousands and I still haven't decided what to do with it. I buzz Jewel, and the two of us spend a few more minutes staring at it together. She's like the Sphinx, that one; she doesn't let on what she's thinking.

CHOOSE ONE OF THE FOLLOWING:

- a) Put the extremely valuable book on the shelf and forget all about it. Go to 2-3096 on p.61, and then return here.
- b) Reach out to a contact and sell it anonymously, then pocket the cash. Go to 1-4942 on p.40, and then return here.
- c) Put out some feelers and try to return it to the original sender. Go to 2-5562 on p.75, and then return here.
- d) Hand it over to the police as evidence. Go to 4-5413 on p.117, and then return here.

NEW YORK TIMES - Monday, May 3rd, 1948

Opening statements were delivered today in the murder trial of Clarice Browning, the leader of a banned occult church from Salem, Massachusetts, and her accomplice Choka Bahandari. District Attorney Frank Hogan laid out the facts of the case: In early March of this year, Mrs. Browning arrived in the Cumberland Hotel in Manhattan, carrying with her an occult book she intended to have appraised and then sold. To a shocked courtroom, he described the book as a rare and sacrilegious text: a corrupted variant of the Octavo King James Bible, produced in 1600 by an underground group of dissident monks, with a dozen or more additional hand-illustrated pages of pornographic, satanic, and occult imagery. The one-of-a-kind Bible was purchased by Mrs. Browning's ancestor, and had only ever been rumored among occultists to exist.

Mr. Hogan described the chain of events as follows: Mrs. Browning used her contacts in the occult underworld to locate two potential dealers for an appraisal of the Bible. One of these, a

Mr. Wyckoff, allegedly robbed Mrs. Browning of valuable jewelry while briefly left alone with the book in her hotel room. The jewelry was recovered from the pawnshop of a Mr. Cremonesi, who has since pleaded guilty to receipt of stolen goods.

As I read this I think back over my interactions with Wyckoff and Cremonesi, how the two of them used some of the same odd vernacular, and how Cremonesi had slipped up when denying he had seen the stolen jewelry. Not to mention how Wyckoff had been steps away from the pawn shop before he spotted me and turned back.

The other dealer, going by the name Walenty Gorski, was in truth an agent for an underground Catholic organization whose stated purpose is to remove sacrilegious texts from distribution. It appears this organization, operating locally out of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, had become aware of the book's existence and sought to steal it.

The organization used the Phoenix Safe Company, owned by a sympathetically aligned religious family, to burgle the hotel room of Mrs. Browning and steal the book. Father and son, both trained locksmiths, allegedly worked together – one monitoring the whereabouts of Mrs. Browning while she left her hotel room for breakfast, and the other picking the lock of her hotel room door in order to obtain the book. Witnesses at the Cumberland Hotel and the Carnegie Deli were able to positively identify both men. It is unclear whether the ultimate aim was to acquire the book in order to dispose of it, or simply to remove it from circulation.

When Mrs. Browning discovered that the book had been stolen, she hired a private investigator to track it down, but directed her accomplice Mr. Bahandari (who had secretly checked into a separate room of the hotel) to conduct a parallel investigation, and to recover the book by any means necessary.

NEW YORK TIMES - Tuesday, May 4th, 1948

The prosecution today continued their case against Clarice Browning and Choka Bahandari, describing how Mr. Bahandari had managed to locate an employee of the Sacred Heart Convent, Constantine Afanasyev. Mr. Afanasyev had been hired to pick up mail from the Gorski residence, which was used by the organization as a kind of front from which they could safely conduct their clandestine operations. Afanasyev was apparently followed to the Convent of the Sacred Heart, and murdered nearby.

In a shocking disclosure, the district attorney described a second, previously unreported murder of another Sacred Heart employee, believed to be the book appraiser known to Mrs. Browning as Walenty Gorski. This man appears to have been tortured in an attempt to force him to reveal the location of the stolen book.

The prosecution has not yet identified the dead man, but they have confirmed that the real Gorski died several years ago. It now appears that the Sacred Heart offices, along with the apartment where Gorski's mail was delivered, were being used as a front for their clandestine operation; fake identities were also used to protect their members. The motive behind these actions remains unclear, as does the method by which they made contact with Mrs. Browning. District Attorney Frank Hogan has hinted that charges may be forthcoming at a further date.

There seems to be no dispute that the satanic book had been hidden all along in a floor safe at the Phoenix Safe Company; however, a warrant executed last month failed to recover the book, and its current whereabouts are unknown.

CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE

I realize as I read this paragraph in the paper that the mysterious note we received on wednesday mentions the word "safe" an inordinate number of times... I guess the guy was hoping I would protect the book if anything happened to him. Either that or the guy had a screw loose and didn't even realize what he was saying.

Police believe that the Sacred Heart is part of a larger organization, possibly run by the reclusive and politically-connected Reverend Carlo Lori, who appears to be the registered owner of many of the group's real estate properties. Police have declined to elaborate or discuss whether an active investigation is ongoing.

It was revealed in court today that this religious organization sent Mrs. Browning a genuine and highly valuable unadulterated copy of the Bible in exchange for the stolen book, in an effort to dissuade her from trying to recover the stolen edition. The whereabouts of the replacement book are currently unknown.

The private detective originally hired to locate the stolen book was none other than Jack Deverell, whose storied and controversial career in the NYPD has been the subject of many articles in the Times. Mr. Deverell could not be reached for comment, but a statement released from his office today said simply that he would not discuss any details of the case due to client confidentiality and the general lack of integrity on the part of the New York press core.

NEW YORK TIMES - Monday, May 10th, 1948

A shocking end today to the double-murder trial of Clarice Browning and Choka Bahandari. Both were expected to take the stand today in their own defense, but were found deceased in their separate jail cells, apparently of self-inflicted cyanide poisoning. As of yet there is no word on how the two could have obtained access to the poison. Investigations are ongoing.

Jewel and I are sitting at the bar of the Dead Rabbit drinking our beers in silence until Jewel finally pipes up.

"So.. What did you learn from this case, Jack?"

I take a sip of my beer and wipe the foam off my lip.

"Well.. I'll tell you Jewel," I say, "I think it's really all about the latent malevolence."

"Oh yeah, is that right?"

"Yeah, I think I prefer the other kind. And what about you, what did you learn?"

"Well," she says, "I learned we should always wait for our final payment before turning our clients in to the police."

Final Scoring

To calculate your final score for this chapter, assess each of your earlier answers (see Conclusion \(p.217\)) and assign them a score from 0 to the maximum listed. NOTE: Do not give yourself full credit if you missed some subtle clues or details:

- Q1. Max score of 20: _____
- Q2. Max score of 20: _____
- Q3. Max score of 20: _____
- Q4. Max score of 20: _____
- Q5. Max score of 20: _____
- Q6. Max score of 10: _____
- Q7. Max score of 10: _____

Total score for all questions: _____

BONUSES

- Subtract 1 point for each demerit you have ticked: _____
- Add 1 point for each reputation you have ticked: _____
- If you have circled Marker Y1 in your case log, add +3 points: _____
- If you have circled Marker Z1 in your case log, add +3 points: _____
- If you have circled Marker X1 in your case log, add +3 points: _____

Final score: _____

! Remember that if you changed any of your answers to a question after visiting new leads, you score the average of your original and revised answer.

Legacy Campaign Updates

Keep the case log sheet for this case with your campaign notes; you will need to keep track of your total score as well as all accumulated checkboxes for each chapter.

Additionally, record in your campaign log sheet the following information for this case:

- If you have circled Marker Q1 in your case log, record “+1 compassion”
- If you have circled Marker R1 in your case log, record “+1 ruthless”
- If you have circled Marker S1 in your case log, record “+1 prudent”
- If you have circled Marker T1 in your case log, record “+1 eccentric”
- If you have circled Marker U1 in your case log, record “+1 lawful”
- If you have circled Marker V1 in your case log, record “+1 dutiful”
- If you have circled Marker W1 in your case log, record “+1 jewel”
- If you were an early playtester for this case, “+1 pioneer and +5 reputation”
- If you played this case solo, “+1 pioneer and +3 reputation”

Behind the Scenes: Postscript from the Author

I hope you have enjoyed this case. I tried to make this one a little tricky with a variety of obstacles that you would have to figure out to follow up on leads.

One of the elements of the case that was most tricky was the way you were supposed to figure out that Wyckoff stole the jewelry. Here is what I tried to do:

When you tail Wyckoff from his shop, he spots you at the end. He made it to just right across the street from a pawn shop, which is meant to connect him to it. The especially tricky part, however, is that he is right at the boundary of neighborhoods, and the pawn shop is in the next neighborhood over (Lower East Side).

You may in fact discover that pawn shop, as one player did, while investigating the dead body of Constantine, which may lead you to wrongly think he was the one who stole the jewelry.

There are, however, two more clues to connect Wyckoff to the pawn shop. First, Wyckoff and Cremonesi, the pawn shop owner, have a similar disposition, and both use the words “vermin” – I suspect they are good friends. More damning, however, is that when we question the pawn shop owner, we mention “a stolen bracelet”, when in fact it was several items that were stolen. He says “I haven’t seen them.” A little slip-up on his part that tells you he’s our man.

As a side note, early playtesters suffered trying to find the pawnshop because I accidentally put two more pawn shops on the same block as where Wyckoff turned around, and in the neighborhood where he was walking. Ouch.

Another subtle element is in the third note you get. If you study it you will note that the word “safe” is used many times – that’s meant to clue you in that he’s stashed it at the Phoenix Safe Company in the floor safe that is mentioned. The old man and the kid with long brown hair that work there are the same people who were watching and breaking into Mrs. Browning’s hotel room on day 2. The old man follows her to Carnegie Deli while the kid gets into her hotel room. You’ll note that the PSC logo on the Sacred Heart Convent is from their locksmith shop.

I had some spirited debates with playtesters about whether the clues to Phoenix Safe company were strong enough or too subtle. In response I made some later changes to make it both a little bit easier to connect the Deli witness to the Phoenix guy, but also added a question that asked the players how they would prove it if they had to – my hope is that that question will spur some debate (the answer is that you could try to get the deli and hotel people to id the phoenix father and son).

One more subtle element is tracking down the name of the killer, who works for Mrs. Browning. To do so you’ll have to visit the taxi company serving the neighborhood where the murder took place. The taxi company gives you the name of the driver and tells you to come back tomorrow when she gets in... but your case doesn’t last 4 days, so you’ll have to visit her yourself. She’ll tell you his nationality and his first name. With that you could go to the Indian Consulate and find out his full name. And with that you can revisit the hotel to get his room number. Note that this was meant to be a non-essential part of the mystery that only advanced players would be able to find. I have to admit that a trip to the Indian Consulate is not the first thing that I would have thought to do. So many consulates, so little time.

The last bit of bonus mystery for advanced players relates to the real identity of the man known as Gorski and the larger organization behind him. If you visit the Property & tax records office (6-5810): NYC Department of Finance (see Research Guide), you will learn the name of Reverend Carlo Lori, whom you can visit to confirm that he is the man behind the operation (and the man pretending to be Gorski).

I should note that there is a fair amount of disagreement on the part of early playtesters regarding the difficulty of the case and whether there is sufficient evidence for players to answer the questions about who took the book. To me it feels like it's a hard case but that there are enough clues to make an educated guess. What do you think?

I hope you enjoyed the moral and other choices you faced. Which choices did you make, and why? There are no right or wrong answers. You might be wondering about the instructions to record things in your "Campaign Log". This case occurs somewhere in the middle of a long campaign planned for High & Low, with legacy elements where your decisions in one case may carry over to another. Whether that campaign gets finished remains to be seen.

One of the mechanical aspects of the case that underwent lots of debate was the use of the markers to "gate" your progress between days, to make sure you had seen certain things each day. The basic idea of doing this has always been a key part to High & Low, to help make the multi-day structure work. Essentially this process ensures that players have seen critical leads so they have a reasonable chance of solving the case at the end, and that they don't miss a critical lead that will make the experience unpleasant. This was originally implemented in this case by having the player answer end-of-day questions that asked about certain things and sent them back into the field if they hadn't found them. Afterwards I had the idea of using the conditional markers (e.g. "mark letter A"), which are already used to check certain conditions, as checks between days. This works mechanically, and we added a kind of time deadline to add some tension and reward efficient players – though I hope it will not serve to discourage players from investigating everything. An in-game hint system was added to help players that feel stuck and don't know what to do.

I'd love to hear what you thought of the case and any bugs you found. You can contact me at jessereichler@gmail.com or stop by the Co-op For Two YouTube Channel or Discord server (link on YouTube "About" page).

If you're interested in making your own case for the High & Low system, stop by boardgamegeek.com and reach out to me – the materials are all available and I'd love to see more cases made.

Special thanks to Debbie Levy for editing, and to early beta testers Dispaminite, Rocky Helton (who made his own case!), Jonathan Warner, Nicola Salmoria, and all the others in the High & Low Discord roundtable for talking through ideas.

-Jesse Reichler, February 20, 2024

Full Walkthrough

Here's one way an experienced detective might have solved the case (note some of these lead numbers may change in future builds):

Day 1

- Turn 1: Visit Mrs. Browning at her hotel (6-0472)
- Turn 2: Visit Cumberland Hotel (2-3383)
- Turn 3: Visit Gorski, Walenty in 3c (5-4329)
- Turn 4: Visit Gorski Neighbor in 3b (6-2712)
- Turn 5: Visit Gorski Neighbor in 3d (1-9825)
- Turn 6: Visit Riverhouse Apartments Maintenance Worker (1-4441)

Day 2

- Turn 1: Visit Mrs. Browning at her hotel (6-0472)
- Turn 2: Visit Cumberland Hotel (2-3383)
- Turn 3: Visit The E. 51st St Church (1-3563)
- Turn 4: Subway (IRT) at Lex & 51st (8-3872)

Day 3

- Turn 1: Visit Cumberland Hotel (2-3383)
- Turn 2: Visit Carnegie Delicatessen (6-5191)
- Turn 3: Visit Wyckoff's Rare Books (2-8549)
- Turn 4: Cremonesi's Pawnbroker (3-4452)
- Turn 5: Speedy Citywide Parcels (2-0387)
- Turn 6: Phoenix Safe Company (1-2791)
- Turn 7: Central Park Engineer's Gate(4-5063)
- Turn 8: Carnegie District Precinct (7-7572)
- Turn 9: Afanasyev, Constantine (7-4030)
- Turn 10: NYC Department of Parking Enforcement (7-2889)
- Turn 11: Convent of the Sacred Heart (2-7768)

HINTS

STOP!

Do not access the hints section except when looking up a specific hint from the table of contents at the start of this case book.

Hint for Document 4

(must be found by end of day 3), from 7-4030 (p.180)

Jewel: “The killing on Tuesday night - have you visited the local police precinct to ask them about it?”

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 4-6329 on p.122.

If you are still stuck, go to 2-2615 on p.59.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 7-4030 on p.180

Hint for Document 5

(must be found by end of day 3), from 6-2867 (p.155)

Jewel: “The DMV may have information about the murder victim’s car – perhaps that can help you find out where he spent time.”

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 7-6204 on p.184.

If you are still stuck, go to 3-0038 on p.87.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 6-2867 on p.155

Hint for Document 6

(must be found by end of day 3), from 4-5063 (p.116)

Jewel: “Was the killing uptown on Tuesday night related to our case? You must have visited the crime scene, right?”

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 1-5280 on p.43.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 4-5063 on p.116

Hint for Marker A1

(must be found by end of day 1)

Jewel: “You sure you talked to all of Gorski’s neighbors?”

If you are still stuck, go to 1-6801 on p.45.

If this information is helpful, mark 1 demerit box in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 1-9825 on p.54

Hint for Marker B1

(must be found by end of day 1)

Jewel: "I assume you've checked with the Cumberland hotel staff?"

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 4-2483 on p.110

Hint for Marker C1

(must be found by end of day 2)

Jewel: "I know you were going to stake out Gorski's apartment. Did you spot someone? Did you lose track of them?"

If you are still stuck, go to 2-4691 on p.71.

If you are still stuck, go to 1-0396 on p.30.

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 8-3872 on p.196

Hint for Marker D1

(must be found by end of day 1)

Jewel: “You’ve met up with Mrs. Browning at her hotel room to check out the scene of the crime, yeah?”

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 2-4314 on p.69

Hint for Marker D2

There must be a way to verify the authenticity of the book that was sent to us.

If this information is helpful, mark 3 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 2-7544 on p.79.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 1-7398 on p.47

Hint for Marker E1

(must be found by end of day 2)

Jewel: “You’ve met with Mrs. Browning to get her reaction to the book that arrived, right?”

If this information is helpful, mark 1 demerit box in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 1-8989 on p.52

Hint for Marker F1

(must be found by end of day 2)

Jewel: “Didn’t you say there was some staff at the hotel you were going to speak to today?”

Tick 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 6-7209 on p.167

Hint for Marker G1

(must be found by end of day 3)

Jewel: “Did you manage to figure out where Mrs. Browning had breakfast?”

If this information is helpful, mark 1 demerit box in your case log.

If you are stuck, go to 8-9604 on p.206.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 6-5191 on p.162

Hint for Marker H1

(must be found by end of day 2)

Jewel: “You need to figure out how to put eyes on someone who might be accessing Gorski’s apartment. Maybe try a stakeout of the building?”

If you are still stuck, go to 4-5594 on p.119.

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 2-3501 on p.65

Hint for Marker J1

(must be found by end of day 3)

Jewel: “Did you manage to track down Wyckoff, the book appraiser?”

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 5-6719 on p.144

Hint for Marker K1

(must be found by end of day 3)

Jewel: "I guess you could visit the local pawn shops to look for signs of the stolen jewelry?"

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 4-2607 on p.111.

If you are still stuck, go to 1-5160 on p.42.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 3-4452 on p.94

Hint for Marker L1

(must be found by end of day 3)

Jewel: “Remember the delivery service that brought the package yesterday? What was it called again?”

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 4-2219 on p.109.

If you are still stuck, go to 2-9509 on p.85.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit one or more of the following leads where this item is obtained:

- 2-8392 on p.83
- 5-3149 on p.134

Hint for Marker M1

(must be found by end of day 3)

Jewel: “We need to think how someone could have got into the hotel room.”

If this information is helpful, mark 3 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 3-5167 on p.96.

If you are still stuck, go to 1-8563 on p.49.

If you are still stuck, go to 7-4818 on p.182.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 1-2791 on p.34

Hint for Marker N1

(must be found by end of day 1)

Jewel: “You found Gorski’s house or apartment?”

If you are still stuck, go to 5-3699 on p.135.

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 5-4329 on p.138

Hint for Marker O1

(must be found by end of day 1)

Jewel: "Did you talk to Gorski's neighbors?"

If you are still stuck, go to 6-4818 on p.160.

If this information is helpful, mark 1 demerit box in your case log.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 6-2712 on p.153

Hint for Marker P1

(must be found by end of day 3)

Jewel: “So, did you figure out where Constantine was working?”

If this information is helpful, mark 2 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 6-2087 on p.152.

If you are still stuck, go to 4-5591 on p.118.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 4-1915 on p.108

Hint for Marker X1

Once you know the full name of the killer, you may be able to talk to someone to identify their location.

If this information is helpful, mark 3 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 5-2683 on p.133.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 4-1463 on p.105

Hint for Marker Y1

It is possible to talk with someone who got the first name and description of the killer.

If this information is helpful, mark 3 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 2-5390 on p.74.

If you still need help, as a last resort Tick 3 demerit boxes in your case log, then visit the following lead where this item is obtained:

- 1-4981 on p.41

Hint for Marker Z1

It is possible to discover the full name of the killer.

If this information is helpful, mark 3 demerit boxes in your case log.

If you are still stuck, go to 4-9164 on p.126.

If you are still stuck, go to 5-6638 on p.143.

Help I'm Lost

If you're at a loss for what to do, here are some suggestions:

- Visit one of your contacts (see list at start of casebook); your old chief in particular frequently has good advice.
- Check the previous day's introductions, make sure you didn't break the game by forgetting to trigger an evening event.
- Check the previous day's newspapers and look for places to visit.
- Advance the current time to the day's evening event and read about any required markers.
- If you can't figure out how to find a marker, read a hint for that marker (the first hint will just give you a little nudge).
- Remember that you can Canvas blocks to look for evidence; use the Reverse Directory to find the lead# associated with canvassing a block.
- Remember that you can lookup apartment buildings in the Reverse Directory to find neighbors and apartment building doormen.
- Remember to think about transportation: Subway stations are commonplace and generally run North-South; busses run crosstown East-West on a single avenue; each neighborhood has their own cab company.
- Try re-examining documents that you have previously gained access to, maybe there is a clue in one.
- Try re-reading leads to see if you missed something, and to make sure you didn't forget to revisit a lead that has changed between days.
- The rulebook has more FAQ items that may help you.

